Pacific Loggers Invade City

Tractors and donkey engines roar in sight of Parliament Buildings as machinery shown for logging congress swings into action.

Loggers Say:

Canadian-U.S. Pact Greatest in History

The crackle of a score of diesel exhausts from logging caterpil-lars, tractors, donkey-engines and trucks in a machinery show formed the backdrop for the opening of the 31st Pacific Logging Congress here this morning.

In the convention hall, across Belleville Street in the Crystal Garden, pledges of co-operation between Canada and the United States to fight the menace of international gangsterism were exchanged by the opening speakers, and national anthems of both countries were sung.

"It is of the utmost importance that people of Canada and the United States should work closely together in everything that pertains to the preservation of democracy," said Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands when he welcomed to the province big names in the northwest's greatest industry, from Washington, from Oregon, from Montana, California and British Columbia.

"I can think of nothing that typified the relationship of our two democracies better than the Peace Arch ceremony last week when 20,000 children of both countries sang the two national anthems together," he continued.
"If you get nothing else from this congress, the friendships you make between Canadians and Americans will be worthwhile.
There'll always be an England, there'll always be a Canada and there'll always be an America as we stand together."

"WE ARE GETTING READY"
"We appreciate that statement," said D. S. Denman of Crown Zelerbach Corporation, Seattle, in reply.

"We from the U.S. will not forget that Canada is spending all her resources without stint in this struggle, and sending her best men to fight. We are not in it yet—we haven't made the decision—but we are preparing for it."

"And we keep in mind that in this war Canada is not only fighting for Canada and the Mother Country—she is also fighting the battle of America."

The same strain went through the reports of Fred B. Brown of Vancouver, congress president, who presided, and A. Whisnant of Portland, secretary.

Mr. Brown expressed the thanks of all Canadians for U.S. economic help in fighting the war.

"It is not too much to say that without this victory for us would be impossible," he said.
"With it defeat will be impossible."

He termed the recent Canadian-U.S. joint defence agreement the most important event in Canadian history.

LEARN TO FACE TRIALS

Mr. Whisnant said American delegates were here to learn and to realize the importance and magnitude of the sacrifice which Canadians were making for "the continuation of the liberty of the human soul."

"Perhaps sooner than we know their trials and their burdens will be ours, and we should learn from them how men carry on," he declared.

Mayor Andrew McGavin welcomed the delegates to Victoria with the hope they would discuss problems of forest conservation.

Timber on Vancouver Island,
the largest single producing area in Canada, was coming to the end of its tether, the mayor said.

He spoke, too, of his own efforts to get selective logging done on the Sooke watershed, vowing that before he left the mayor's chair he would see it started.

Upwards of 500 delegates, many with their wives, are in the city for the congress. They represent hundreds of millions of dollars invested in the lumber industry on the coast.

The Empress Hotel is registration headquarters, and a get-together breakfast was held there this morning while the Victoria Girls' Drill Team provided a smart floor show. Delegates were piped into the breakfast room by the Victoria Highland Lassies, consisting of Lillian Grant, Lorna Douli, Ina
Robertson and Helen Finlayson.

Miss Elsie Bergh of Portland is vocal soloist for the convention and at the opening led the singing of the national anthems of "O Canada" and "America."

While the main convention proceeded a special forest safety and first aid school was opened under direction of Charles Pearse, provincial safety advisor.
Jack McQuinn, superintendent of Comox Logging Company, was the chief morning speaker.

Coogan Rejected

OTTAWA (CP)—An application for service with the Royal Canadian Air Force was placed by Jackie Coogan, child acting star of the silent films, but it met rejection, according to information available at the Air Ministry this afternoon. Officials gave no reason for the rejection.

A dispatch from Hollywood said Coogan, 26, had said he would soon be serving at Trenton, Ont., as a civilian flying instructor.

Detroit Wins First Game 7 to 2

CROSBY FIELD, Cincinnati.
Ohio (AP)—Detroit's American League champions loosed their batting power behind the tight pitching of Buck Newsom today to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 7-2, in the first game of the 1940 world series before 31,793 fans.

The Tigers put the game on ice in the second with a five-hit, five-run blast which sent Paul Derringer, Redleg ace hurler, to the showers, and then added two more in the fifth when Bruce Campbell banged a homer into right-field bleachers to score behind Rudy York, who had tripled.

While Detroit was bunting its 10 hits to the best advantage, Newsom kept eight Cincinnati batters hit scattered except in the fourth when Goodman doubled and came home on Hippie's single, and in the eighth when Werber doubled and scored on Goodman's one-baser.

Score by innings:

Detroit 0 5 0 2 0 0 0 7
Cincinnati 0 0 0 1 0 0 2 3
Batteries—Newsom and Sullivan; Derringer, Moore, Wilson and Baker.

Believed Killed

OTTAWA (CP)—The Royal Canadian Navy, in its seventh casualty list of the war late today reported Sub-Lt. Austin Wright Proctor of Toronto as "missing, believed killed in action."

Did Not Register

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jack Hoffman, 37-year-old unaturalized German, who came to Canada in 1912, was remanded until tomorrow after pleading guilty in police court here today on a charge of failing to register as an enemy alien.

London Repels 5 Raids Enemy's Day Attacks Turned Into Failure

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry announced tonight that reports so far received showed nine German planes had been shot down during the day and one British fighter plane was missing.

Five air raid warnings from dawn to dusk kept London in an almost continuous state of alarm.

At times the roar of invading planes could be heard, but always to the accompaniment of heavy anti-aircraft fire. Central London escaped, thanks either to the fierce ground defence or to the fact that it was not an objective today.

There were three alarms in the morning, one shortly after noon and still another late in the day.

Squadron after squadron of Nazi machines flew to the attack on London, but Royal Air Force fighters gave them battle and turned back each succeeding wave.

Bombs Dropped In Isolated Areas

The Air Ministry's communique tonight said:

"Early this morning single enemy aircraft made several brief raids over the south and east coasts, in the course of which a few bombs were dropped at isolated points in the southwest of England, South Wales and Essex. Little damage and few casualties are reported."

"Beginning about 9 o'clock this morning and continuing throughout the day there has been a series of attacks on London by forces of several squadrons of enemy aircraft. All of these have been intercepted and broken up by our fighters."

"Few of the enemy penetrated to the London area and reports indicate that where bombs were dropped they caused little damage and few casualties, although these included some fatal injuries."

"On their way to and from London some of the enemy aircraft dropped their bombs on Kent coast towns with no better success."

Axis Gamble on Egypt Campaign

LONDON (CP)—Military circles said today they had "no reason to doubt" that the German high command has taken over direction of Italian operations in North Africa.

They said there is "no good reason not to believe" that Germany also has moved troops from the Reich into Italy—probably to be used as reinforcements for the Italian north African army.

Italy has done little lately, one source said, except to build up a position at Sidi Barrani, Egypt, as an advance base and push some forces southeastward toward the Siwa Oasis, which is 60 to 70 miles inside the Egyptian frontier.

These sources explained that Italy's offensive might be aimed either at Matruh or Alexandria from that oasis.

Drew Middleton, Associated Press staff writer in London, today wrote:

tinue to preach preparedness against invasion, but neutral military observers and unofficial but the Nazi-held coast of France and the Low Countries through-

Fleet including some of the world's most powerful battle-next important land battlefield of the war. They suggested that Germany may move troops and Africa in the hope of concluding the campaign there by spring so

After the first of the daylight raids had drawn the fire of London anti-aircraft batteries, residents of a southeastern section of the city first heard machine gun fire overhead, indicating defence planes were engaging the Nazis.

Germans Flee Before Spitfires

Observers soon after were able to see a big battle in progress. British Spitfires were said to have pursued the raiders downriver toward the Thames estuary.

Among those killed in southeast London was a baby being wheeled in a perambulator and the baby's father and mother.

Four bombs fell on homes in other parts of southeastern London during the second daylight attack. One was a delayed-fuse explosive. Damage to property in the district seemed to be extensive but no casualties were reported.

One force consisted of only a few bombers escorted by almost 150 fighters. This led to the belief the Germans again were using fighters on daylight raids in an effort to wear down the R.A.F. fighters.

One German bomber crashed in flames in Suffolk after a running fight with Spitfires over southeastern England. Before it was shot down by fighters the bomber dropped high explosive bombs on a southeastern town.

Roofs Pierced By Bullets

The town also was peppered with bullets fired from machine guns in the planes battling overhead. Some pierced the roofs of houses. Shoppers dashed for shelter along the main streets.
One burst of bullets went through the roof of a newspaper office, wounding a proofreader.

Only one central London street was hit by bombs in last night's raid, the 25th consecutive overnight attack, the Press Association reported today.

NEW DEFENCE SPOTLIGHT BAD NEWS FOR NAZI RAIDERS—That bright "insect" at right is a good-sized plane—but miles away. It is "spotlighted" by the 800,000,000 candle-power beam of one of the new anti-aircraft searchlights tested at Schenectady, N.Y. These 60-inch lights, soon to be in production, are so powerful that a person in a plane 12 miles off can read a newspaper by the light. Setting up of these lights around London will add to the peril of German night bombers. A raider might as well turn back and flee as fast as possible when he is picked up by one of these lights.

Reinforcements To Mediterranean

The Manchester Guardian said today British "watchfulness must now extend more and more to the Mediterranean, for on events there the Empire's future may depend."

The Guardian commented that
"the R.A.F.'s successes during the last month permit us to be confident about the future of the Battle of Britain. Hitler may still order an invasion attempt, but that he has not won aerial superiority makes it less likely."

"No field of war is more important to us than that in which we defend Suez and our fleet bases in the Mediterranean," it went on.

"We may have to send considerable reinforcements of aircraft to the Middle East when Italy begins in earnest, particularly if she is aided by German bombers."

Remarking that Germany "is pressing Spain hard about Gibraltar," the Guardian warned:

"It is the triangle of Mediterranean doorways that the axis is after and diplomatic preparations seem about to end. We must look for a sudden enlargement of the struggle in this field which may leave the present Italian offensive looking like one of its smallest parts."

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP

Charles de Gaulle, leader of the French who are continuing the war by Britain's side, are firmly in control of French Oceania, Prime Minister Peter Fraser said today.

THIS IS DESERT WARFARE—That little glamour surrounds modern warfare is well known, but the point is underscored by this photo—one of the first showing actual battle in Africa. Hugging the hot sands of the desert as shells burst over them, Italian troops are crawling to the attack on Fort Sandolot, British Somaliland.

Final Bulletins

1 Shell Into Dover

LONDON (CP)—Late this evening a German long-range gun on the French side took one shot across the Channel at the Dover coast. The single shell did no damage.

58 Saved; 1 Lost

LONDON (CP)—Twenty-eight crewmen of the 4,319-ton Norwegian vessel Vestvåg, torpedoed Friday off the Hebrides, were safe in Ireland tonight after four days and nights in an open life-boat. They reported one seaman was drowned.

NIGHT RAID

LONDON (CP)—Nazi air raiders, opening their 26th consecutive night attack on the British capital, came over earlier than usual tonight, approaching by way of the northwestern suburbs.
The big anti-aircraft guns on the city's outskirts opened fire at once and the roar steadily grew.

After about an hour, quiet suddenly descended on the city and the alarm was lifted.

NEW YORK (AP)—A daughter was born today to Col. and Mrs.

fourth, including their first-born, who was kidnapped and killed in

Pact News Dud

TOKYO (AP)—A letter to the newspaper Hochi complained today of what it called lack of interest in the signing of the alliance among Japan, Germany and Italy. "People read the big news indifferently as though it were three other countries," the letter said.

Conservatives Make Long-range Plans

OTTAWA (CP)—In the midst of the bloody battles of war the National Conservative Party begins its preparations for the bloodless battles of ballots in the days to come.

Dominion Conservative headquarters today announced the start of a campaign to rebuild the Dominion Conservative Association on a nationwide basis. Letters bearing the signature of the association president, John R. Macdonald, member of Parliament for Toronto-Davenport, are going out to about 2,500 Conservatives who attended the national convention of the party at Ottawa in 1938.

Initial objective of the campaign is a membership of 20,000 for the association. The long-range objective is to invigorate the party so it can play its traditional role in Canadian democracy.

To add point to the national character of the Dominion association a distinctive emblem, consisting of the map of Canada bearing the name of the association, has been chosen. The emblem is in blue—the party color—the outline of the map in light blue and the lettering in dark.

As a new departure in Canadian political activity members of the association will be given a neat badge, also bearing the map and the letters "D.C.A." It will not be a gaudy button like those sometimes issued in election campaigns, but an inconspicuous, dressy affair which may be worn on all occasions on a man's coat lapel or a woman's dress.

The membership cards of the organization will also be in blue and bear the association emblem.

World Series

Tigers Long-range Hitting Decisive

CINCINNATI—The American League went home game up on the National League in the 1940 World Series today when the hard-hitting Detroit Tigers club hammered out a 7 to 2 victory over Cincinnati Reds in the series opener before a packed stadium here at Crosley Field.

HARD HITTING

Detroit's slashing hitters went to work on Derringer in the second inning. Powerful Hank Greenberg, the most dangerous hitter in the American League, led off by smacking the first pitch deep into left field. It looked good for extra bases but smart fielding and a magnificent throw by Jimmy Ripple, Cincinnati outfielder, held Greenberg at first base. Rudy York, another of Detroit's long-distance hitters, dropped a single into right centre and Greenberg, who hoped to make third, was forced to double back and slide into second base. Campbell, who got the right field assignment over Pete Fox, pulled a smart play by laying a bunt along the third-base line. Werber, who fielded the ball, threw slightly wide to first base and pulled McCormick off the bag. Campbell was safe, filling the bases.

Higgins, Detroit third-sacker, delivered the blow that scored the first run of the series. His single to centre field sent Greenberg across the plate, followed closely by York. Campbell halted at second.

Derringer was upset by the savagery of the Tiger attack and walked Sullivan, filling the bases once more. Manager Bill McKeechie of the Reds sent Whitely Moore to the bullpen to warm up.

END OF DERRINGER

McCormick cracked another single into the outfield. It drove Newsom home and sent Derringer to the showers. It was a tragic end for the big right-hander, who is counted one of the steady pitchers in the majors. Derringer yielded five singles and five runs in the first inning. Moore, who relieved Derringer, retired the side without further scoring.

Cincinnati pushed over a run in their half of the fourth on Goodman's double into centre field and Ripple's powerful single which scored Goodman.

It seemed as though Moore had the Tigers under complete control as the fifth inning opened and Greenberg struck out, much to the delight of the great crowd, but two tremendous hits produced a pair of runs in a few moments. York dropped the ball against the right-field fence, 370 feet from home plate, and pulled up at third for a triple. Goodman made a frantic effort to make the catch but could not get high enough. Campbell connected with a curve ball and it did not stop until it landed in the bleachers in centre field. It went for a home-run and York scored ahead of Campbell.

Moore became wild in the seventh and, with only one down, walked three men, filling the bases. At this point Joe Beggs, Cincinnati's ace relief hurler, went to the bullpen, but things were cleared up without his aid when Goodman made a sensational catch of Sullivan's liner into deep right.

In the last of the eighth Reds added one more run on Werber's double, a fielder's choice and Goodman's single into centre field.

Chamberlain Resigning

LONDON (CP)—The resignation of Neville Chamberlain, Lord President of the Council, from the Churchill government on the grounds of ill health is imminent and may be announced tonight or tomorrow, it was reported in political circles today.

The departure of the former Prime Minister, who made way for Mr. Churchill last May, would likely involve several government changes. It is believed possible that David Lloyd George, Britain's white-haired political veteran who led the nation through the critical years of the first Great War, may return to office in some advisory capacity.

Almost from the day he resigned there has been a persistent drive to force Mr. Chamberlain from public life because of the failure of his "Munich policy" and his general handling of the first six months of the war.

DESIRED TO QUIT

Political sources claim he wanted to retire when he resigned as Prime Minister, but agreed to stay in office on the insistence of Mr. Churchill. These sources also claim he approached the Prime Minister at least twice in the past four months and offered to resign but was persuaded to stay.

In recent weeks, however, Mr. Chamberlain's health has not been good and he underwent an abdominal operation. He has recovered sufficiently to return to his ministerial duties, but is believed to have found the strain of wartime work too taxing for his strength.

Ills of the victims had been notified, but did not specify how many lives were lost.

L'Audaceux, built in 1934, carried a complement of 220 men. Her armament consisted of five 5.5-inch guns, four 37-mm. guns and nine 21.7-inch torpedo tubes. Her speed was above 43 knots.

Scientists believe the earth's interior is solid with a rigidity equal to that of steel.

GETS CHIEF POST

MAJOR STUART ROBERTSON

OTTAWA—Major Stuart Robertson of Victoria, B.C., has been appointed by the Defence Department as chief instructor of the Canadian Training School now being organized in England and is now in eastern Canada on his way overseas. Major Robertson joined the Canadian Scottish 14 years ago and rose to second in command of the 1st Battalion. He was recently sent to Vernon to organize instructional work in the military camp there.

Ottawa Confirms Rumanians Held 2 Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—Officials of the external affairs department said today they had received information from London that two Canadians, a Capt. Treacy, an oil engineer and his wife, are among five British subjects held by authorities in Rumania after being arrested last week by Iron Guardists.

The department, which made inquiries, said the five were arrested and handed over to police after signing a confession regarding schemes of sabotage.

The statement from the department said: "Two of the prisoners were seen by the British consul in Bucharest on September 27. Representations have since been made to Rumania by the United Kingdom demanding release of the prisoners, or failing this, speedy trial and proper treatment in the meantime."

TORONTO (CP)—Fears of William L. Treacy, railroad worker of suburban Mimico, that his brother, Capt. John Edward Treacy, was in the hands of the Rumanian police were confirmed today by an official statement from Ottawa stating that two Canadians, a Capt. Treacy and his wife, were held in Bucharest for suspected attempted sabotage.

William Treacy, of Hussar, Alta., near Calgary, is another brother of Capt. Treacy who was born in Chatham, Ont., in 1884, served as a captain in the C.E.F. in the first Great War, married an English girl and went to Rumania, where he had been connected with the oil business for 20 years.

BRITON ABDUCTED

BUCHAREST (AP)—The British legation declared today that a band of youths, described as apparently members of the Iron Guard, had kidnapped the director of the British-controlled Astra Romana, largest oil company in Rumania.

Up to noon, the legation said it had been unable to ascertain the whereabouts or fate of the director, A. Miller.

Rumanian secret police declared they had no knowledge of the matter.

The legation said it had eye-witnesses to prove that Miller, one of the most highly-placed Britons left in the country, had been kidnapped from the summer resort of Snagov, on the outskirts of the capital, by four young men in plain clothes.

Miller was said to have gone to Snagov to spend the night at a sports club maintained by Astra Romana. The kidnappers were reported to have driven up to the club shortly after midnight and forced Miller to enter their automobile.

The legation said it took a serious view of the incident, which followed the arrest of four other Britons—including one woman—and a Canadian, on charges of planning sabotage in the oil fields. Premier Ion Antonescu has promised a full investigation of these arrests, which took place eight days ago.

Swiss Join Colors

BERNE, Switzerland (AP)—At the suggestion of the Swiss high command, the government today called many new troops and officers to the colors to replace others who, a communique said, will soon be released from active duty. The number affected was not stated.

Robert Crew Congratulated By Admiralty

OTTAWA (CP)—Hearty congratulations from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Navy Minister Macdonald and the British Admiralty were sent to Commander Charles T. Beard of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert on the recent capture of the German freighter Weser off Manzanillo, Mexico. Mr. Macdonald announced today at a press conference attended by 10 newspaper reporters.

The Prince Robert, a former Canadian National Steamships passenger vessel, recently converted into an auxiliary cruiser, now is escorting its prize to the west coast naval station at Esquimalt, B.C.

"Hearty congratulations to yourself, to the officers and men of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert from all your fellow Canadians," was Mr. King's message.

"Great work, Robert. All Canada proud," wireless Mr. Macdonald.

ADMIRALTY PRAISE

"Please convey my congratulations to all concerned on capture of German ship Weser. This early success for H.M.C.S. Prince Robert on her maiden voyage is, I feel sure, a good augury for the future," was the message received from the Admiralty.

Mr. Macdonald said he had not yet received detailed information on the cargo and probable destination of the Weser when the Prince Robert pounced on her shortly after her departure from Manzanillo on September 26. The Weser's crew numbers 58 men. As noncombatants they will not be prisoners-of-war, but they will be given the status of internees.

The prize money accruing from the capture of the ship will run to more than $500,000, Mr. Macdonald estimated. While no arrangement about prize distribution has yet been made, he said, it is probable the same method followed in the last war will be adopted.

Then the prize money coming to all the navies of the British Commonwealth as a result of the capture of enemy ships was pooled and distributed to the officers and men at the end of the war.

Mr. Macdonald said no interference with Japanese ships reported to be carrying German-made goods to Mexican ports for sale in Latin-America was contemplated.

MRS. ATWELL KING DIED YESTERDAY

Mrs. Louise King, wife of Atwell D. King, 543 Linden avenue, and a resident of Victoria since 1912, died yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital in her 59th year.

Mrs. King was born in Lexington, England, and came to Vancouver as a child with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Masters, New Westminster. She was an active member of Christ Church Cathedral, and was a member of the Victoria Golf Club for many years.

She is survived by her husband and two sons, Atwell C. D. King, with the army in England, and O. F. L. King, at home; three sisters, Mrs. O. B. Allan and Mrs. G. Crawford, both of Vancouver; and Mrs. Harry Tidy, New Westminster, and one brother, Frank Masters, Vancouver.

Funeral services will be held at Christ Church Cathedral on Friday afternoon at 2:30, Dean Spencer H. Elliott officiating. Interment at Royal Oak. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. have charge of the arrangements.

Australia's Minister To Japan Delayed

SYDNEY (CP)—Departure for Tokyo of Australia's first minister to Japan, Sir John Latham, has been delayed, but it is insisted this is not connected with the new Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact.

Rather, it is said, the delay is a result of Australian political uncertainties arising from the general election, in which the government's majority is likely to be reduced from nine to one. It is added that the minister, before leaving, would wish the approval of any new government that might be formed.

In the meantime there is a new wave of protests against Australian exports of scrap metal and tin ore to Japan.

Cushion Smothers Infant

VANCOUVER (CP)—The one-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Towler was found dead early this morning on a cushioned chair where he had been laid for the night, smothered by a cushion which had rolled on top of him. A police inquest was held, under which Raveron was

2,200 B.C. Men Called to Camp

Approximately 2,200 letters were mailed in Vancouver today from the office of C. G. Pennock, registrar for British Columbia and the Yukon, calling young men throughout the province for 30 days military training, beginning October 9.

Each letter will contain, in addition to the call to service, traveling vouchers and meal vouchers to provide for the men until they reach their camps. The men will train at Gordon Head and Vernon.

Mr. Pennock said investigation was being made of a small number of youths who have changed their addresses without notifying the proper authorities, or who registered under incorrect addresses.

Letters to these youths, he said, have been returned undelivered. Under the national registration regulations, all persons changing their address after registration are required to notify the director of national registration at Ottawa.

Book Store Man Found Guilty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wilfred Raveron, elderly proprietor of a Vancouver bookshop, convicted in police court of having in his possession documents containing material likely to be prejudicial to the safety of the state, will appear next Tuesday for sentence.

Harry Asson and Julius Fuerst, also were convicted yesterday of advocating the principles of an illegal organization—the Communist party—by printing the Vancouver Clarion, which police claimed was a Communist newspaper.

Conviction of Raveron concluded a long trial, during which four faculty members from the University of British Columbia testified on the contents of books entered as evidence against him. Raveron was arrested by Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers August 28, when his bookshop was raided. A total of 8,000 books, pamphlets and newspapers were seized in the raid and more than 100 of them were entered as exhibits.

In his four-page written judgment Magistrate H. S. Wood explained in detail the reasons why he found Raveron guilty. He mentioned an amendment to the "Access of Canada Regulations," under which Raveron was charged, making it an offence to have banned literature in possession "in quantity." He interpreted the significance of the word "quantity"—"for the reason that such literature is likely to be used for propaganda purposes."

Asson and Fuerst were arrested when premises on which police claimed the illegal newspaper was being printed were raided. Asson, who spoke on his own behalf at the trial, claimed the regulations outlawing the Communist party were ultra vires.

Widespread Nazi Night Raids

Few London Casualties

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry and the Ministry of Home Security today issued the following communique:

"Enemy air attacks last night were widespread over many parts of Great Britain, but were particularly directed against the London area and southeast England.

"High explosive bombs dropped on a Merseyside town caused damage to buildings, but several incendiary bombs were quickly dealt with and the damage was not excessive. A number of casualties occurred, however, several of which were fatal.

"In other towns in northwest England houses and industrial buildings were damaged. At one of these towns fires were started in several districts, but were promptly brought under control and all were extinguished.

"In these towns the number of casualties reported is not large, but includes some persons fatally injured.

"Bombs were again scattered widely over many parts of the London area. Reports so far received show the damage and the number of casualties have not been serious.

"In southeast England bombs were dropped at numerous points. In a village in Essex, a number of houses were demolished and casualties caused.

"Elsewhere from all parts of the country the damage reported has been slight and casualties have been few."

The north, south and east suburbs bore the brunt of the night's attack in the London area.

Brief All-clear Before Midnight

Once, just before midnight, an all-clear signal sounded. It was the second time since the air war was intensified that London has had an all-clear signal that early in the night.

It did not last long—not long enough for Londoners to hurry home from their shelters—before a new alarm signalled the approach of more German planes from the east.

The planes were met with a roaring barrage of anti-aircraft fire and they swerved over the southwestern outskirts instead of trying to slip through over the mid-city section.

It was indicated casualties in and closely around London were few.

However, more than 20 persons, including patients and nurses, were injured—some of them fatally—when a bomb burst beside a large east London hospital.

Germans Claim Arms Plant Hit

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command today issued the following communique:

"The air force yesterday and during the night of October 1 to 2 again attacked numerous war essential targets in London, as well as southern and central England.

"Extensive fires and explosions were observed. Units of a fighting group commanded by Major Hahn, in an audacious dive attack, bombed the airport at Pembroke-Carew and, despite strong anti-aircraft fire, scored hits with the heaviest calibre bombs on hangars and damaged a number of enemy fighting planes on the ground with bombs and machine guns. The planes returned to their home base without losses.

"The fighting plane units attacked port facilities at Liverpool, as well as industrial facilities at Manchester, with resulting great fires, explosions and damages.

"Furthermore, we succeeded in a surprise attack with single fighting planes which bombed an armament plant north of London and a nearby airport used especially at night."

"The opponent's losses on October 1 and during the night of October 2 amounted to 17 planes, of which 15 were bagged in air fights, one thereof by night chasers, one by anti-aircraft.

"Two German planes are missing.

(Four German aircraft were shot down over Britain yesterday. Three British fighters were lost.)

Nazis Hide in Bomb Shelters

Explosions Rock Berlin

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry today announced Royal Air Force bombers attacked a munitions factory in Berlin during the night.

One of the British pilots, reporting to the Air Ministry, said "four terrific explosions" were seen after he had dropped his load on an electric equipment factory in the German capital.

So big was the explosion, the pilot said, that his plane was lit up and the factory itself was "clearly identified."

Other bombers who took part in the attack on Berlin said there were various fires and explosions. The Air Ministry's bulletin, amplifying an earlier communique, said the R.A.F. planes flew over a northwest suburb of Berlin—"that part of the city which is chiefly concerned in the manufacture of heavy machinery."

Other bombers attacked an oil plant and an electric power station at Cologne, a power station at Duisberg, an aircraft factory at Rotterdam and communications in western Germany.

The "invasion ports" along the English Channel again were heavily bombed.

RAID ALARMS

London radio listeners heard the German stations at Hamburg, Bremen and other cities go off the air before midnight and interpreted this as indicating raid alarms there.

The attack on close-at-hand Nazi bases across the Strait of Dover started before midnight.

Observers on the Kent cliffs saw the flash of German anti-aircraft fire and the swinging beams of searchlights trying to pick out the British bombers high in the clouds overhead. The French coast was shrouded with light mist.

At times bombing explosions shook the ground on the English side of the narrow water barrier.

The attack seemed concentrated on German long-range emplacements near Cap Gris Nez and in the region of Boulogne harbor.

The Royal Air Force also attacked oil plants at Sterkrade-

Holten, Gelsenkirchen and Cologne, said the Air Ministry's communique.

British planes bombed goods yards at Hamm, Soest, Westphalia, Grimberg and Coblenz, a railway junction at Sterkrade-Holten, canal locks in the Ruhr, an aircraft factory at Rotterdam and several other enemy territories.

Three British aircraft failed to return.

German Censors Cut Down News

BERLIN (AP)—A British air raid on the Berlin area last night, and early today sent Berliners scurrying to shelters for the fourth successive night, but the alarm was comparatively short.

A censorship was imposed against publishing the exact length of the alarm. (Before this rule went into effect, it was announced the raid had lasted 2 hours and 15 minutes.)

Shots from defence guns were heard in the centre of the city, but no planes appeared over the centre.

An announcement claimed British planes attempted to reach Berlin, but that most of them were forced to turn back when they reached outer defences.

Only a few machines succeeded in flying over the industrial suburbs, the announcement claimed, and caused no "noteworthy" damage.

The raid was one of a series which has kept Berlin's residents in shelters from one to five hours nightly, with occasional nights of respite, for a month.

Apartment Houses Swept By Fire

A communique from the high command said:

"During the day British planes were observed neither over Reich's territory nor regions occupied by Germany."

"At night the opponent, with several planes, raided a number of western German cities, where great fire damage was caused to numerous apartment houses.

"Several British bombers approached the Reich's capital via northern Germany, where a well-aimed barrage of anti-aircraft fire forced them to abandon the raid."

"British planes dropped several incendiary and explosive bombs on brickworks west of Berlin. No further damage to buildings or persons was done here."

"Heavy losses have been inflicted on the foe recently by specially developed tactics of night chasers and anti-aircraft artillery. Nearly everywhere the foe was hindered from carrying out his raiding plans."

Tasks Differ

TORONTO (CP)—Pilot Officer Clare Connor, Toronto, of the Royal Air Force, one of three Canadians who was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross as announced last Saturday in London, in a letter home says his job is "rather opposite to father's."

His father, A. W. Connor, builds bridges in Ontario, while Clare destroys them in Germany. "I've had good luck with bridges," he writes.

Brian pipes are made from the roots of the tree-heath.

German Signs in French Capital

Paris More German Than French Now

By ROBERT OKIN

PARIS, via Berlin (AP)—The Champs Elysees, near Paris equivalent to New York's Fifth Avenue, looks more as if it were in Berlin today than in the capital of France.

The Germans have centred many of their activities along the wide, park-like avenue, with the Arc de Triomphe at one end and the specious Place de la Concorde at the other.

Walking up from the Rond Point, with its crystal fountains that play every Sunday, you find a cafe turned into a "Soldatenheim," where German army men eat and lounge on the terrace.

NAZI MOVIES

A little farther on is a "Soldatenkino," where German pictures are shown for German soldiers only. Next is a German theatre where German-language plays are produced by traveling companies of the Nazi "Strength Through Joy" organization.

The Champs Elysees is a popular place for the German officers to stroll and the cafe terraces bordering the avenue invite many of them.

Here is one of the few cafes in Paris with a sign in its windows reading: "For Aryans Only."

Along the Place de la Concorde and the arched Rue de Rivoli fly rows of German army flags. Before the Crillon and Meurice hotels, where high German officers are housed, barriers manned by French police require the public to use the other side of the street.

CROWDS WATCH SENTRIES

In the Place de l'Opera, another important Paris centre, is a "Kommandatur" whose sentries, clicking to attention in perfect unison, draw large crowds of French spectators.

Across the street at the Cafe de la Paix, a favorite tourist centre, German soldiers make up a large part of the clientele.

German hand concerts are held several times a week in Paris parks and squares and occasionally troops march through the streets singing.

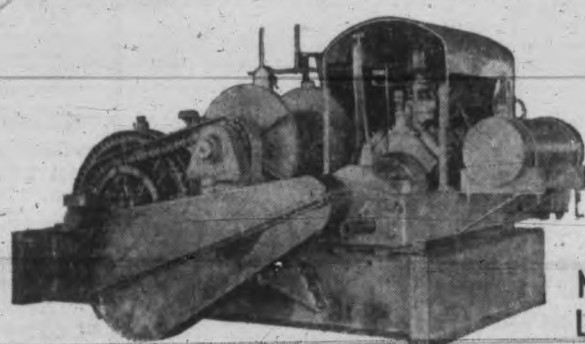

Most of the city's greatly reduced automobile traffic is made up of grey-painted automobiles of the German army. Many soldiers travel by subway—the only public transportation in Paris.

ONTARIO ENROLLS VOLUNTEER POLICE

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario is to have a force auxiliary to the provincial police, which will be known as the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary.

In announcing establishment of the force, Premier Hepburn and Attorney-General Conant said the decision resulted from the many offers received by the Attorney-General to assist in dealing with subversive elements and in maintaining law and order.

Persons enrolling in the Ontario Volunteer Constabulary will serve without pay and will be requested to undergo instruction under provincial police officers to ensure reasonable competency in police duties. They will be under control of the Ontario commissioner of police and subject to regular police discipline.

A minimum age limit of 35 is prescribed.

'More Men Than Guns'

EXPERTS WHO SAW THE GERMAN machine in action in the Low Countries and witnessed its crushing progress through a large part of France have been telling us for months that Britain's most pressing need is more machines, more airplanes, more guns, more shells and more tanks. But ever since the war broke out, and more especially since the Nazi invasion of Denmark and Norway, a substantial section of the press of Canada has devoted altogether too much of its demand for a more accelerated national contribution to the Empire's cause to the enlistment of men and too little to the argument in support of a greater recruitment of the nation's industrial production.

We are forcefully reminded of this and what has resulted by the second of a series of articles which Mr. Lowell Lippincott, military expert of the New York Daily News and one of a party of 30 United States journalists who have just returned to their own country after looking at our war effort in Canada's eastern area. He says that Canadian authorities "realize that the land of the Maple Leaf has a lot more men than guns at present." While this is obviously true, and none knows it better than the Minister of Munitions and Supply, Major Mark S. Watson very pointedly tells readers of the Baltimore Sun that "what commands the observers' respect is the celerity with which the Dominion had adapted its September, 1939, program to the radically altered facts of September, 1940."

With the collapse of France, of course, a feeling spread from the Atlantic to the Pacific that more men had to be put into uniform. It was a thankless task to argue that, by reason of the fact that the British Expeditionary Force of much more than the normal regular army had lost practically all its equipment, Canada's immediate job was to devise ways and means of helping to replace that equipment with all possible dispatch. In great measure the government applied itself to this task. But it is still necessary to bear in mind that Britain's capacity for producing war materials for use on the home and other fronts may at any time be seriously impaired by new and more ambitious attacks from the air. In other words, Canada is not only a source of supply of men and foodstuffs, it is a great arsenal as well—and must be a greater one.

Mr. Chamberlain to Retire?

ALTHOUGH WITHOUT OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION as this is written, political circles in London are advised that Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, is about to resign as Lord President of the Council in the Churchill government. Coupled with this intimation, moreover, is the suggestion that Mr. Churchill may call in his former colleague and wartime Premier, Mr. Lloyd George, in an advisory capacity.

It is not surprising that Mr. Chamberlain of late has given some thought to his uncomfortable and somewhat anomalous position in the ministry presided over by a man who had been one of his bitterest critics. Not long ago, it will be recalled, the former Prime Minister underwent an operation and his health has naturally suffered in consequence—although he recently returned to his duties and has attended the sessions of the House of Commons during the last week or so. It will be hoped, however, that, relieved of all ministerial responsibility, he will regain his strength and be permitted to watch the Britain he loves so well gradually emerge victorious from her fight against the forces of evil. Until further and more definite advice reach us it would be unfeeling, of course, to extend this reference to the passage from the moving scene of British public life of one whose term as Prime Minister was fraught with such momentous and tragic consequences.

However, the speculation that Mr. David Lloyd George—with his wisdom and detestation of compromise with his country's foes—may assume some role in association with Mr. Churchill's real national government is of paramount interest and importance. He has a good deal in common with the present head of the administration, inasmuch as he has been blamed for many of the alleged consequences of the Treaty of Versailles, or what are termed the consequences, while an ungrateful public at one time never tired of thinking of Mr. Churchill in terms of Antwerp and the Dardanelles.

Both Mr. Churchill and Mr. Lloyd George saw the present war coming. They warned all and sundry of how Nazi Germany was preparing. The Prime Minister's "Step by Step"—1936 to 1939—is the most prophetic work of its kind.

Showing Parliament

ALMOST IN THE TWINKLING OF AN eye, with little or no ostentation, the Royal Canadian Air Force has stolen a march on the Canadian Parliament. It has got itself a truly distinctive emblem—a new flag that will give some inkling that the men who readily rally to it really hail from the land of the Maple Leaf. Here is part of the self-explanatory dispatch which shows how the men who are doing great things in the air can act and act quickly, aground as well as aloft, and who obviously feel that they are living in a world which has little patience with academic discussions and political pussyfooting:

"Officers and men at R.C.A.F. headquarters in the United Kingdom decided their flag should have something to make it distinctively Canadian. They suggested a maple leaf be substituted for the red circle insert in the old flag, and this has been done. Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., yesterday unfurled the new flag, which flew for the first time in England when he visited a Canadian army co-operation squadron in beautiful rolling country."

When Parliament reconvenes at Ottawa on November 5, perhaps some member of the government will allude with a grateful heart to this action of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The gallant boys cannot be accused of plotting against the security of the state or of any of the stuffy platitudes which have marked the many discussions of the "flag question" in the past. And we can imagine them thinking of their homeland—and the maple leaves in their autumn tints.

May we say to Parliament that what is good enough for the Royal Canadian Air Force ought to be good enough for it and the rest of us? Marry the Union Jack to the Maple Leaf and pronounce the blessing.

Same Methods

UNDER VARIOUS FANCY NAMES THE Petain government is seizing former public men or officials on whom it is hoped to fasten the blame for France's unhappy predicament. Gamelin, Daladier, Reynaud, Mandel and a host of others are under "protective arrest" or "administrative internment." Their detention has been brought about by the voice of Petain; but the slimy hand that pulls the strings is that of Adolf Hitler. Petain may want scapegoats; Hitler is after scalps. Ponder the record:

Kurt von Schuschnigg, last chancellor of the Austrian republic, wanted to preserve his country's independence. When Hitler grabbed Austria, the first thing he did was to make Schuschnigg a prisoner for the high crime of trying to resist the plans of the German dictator. Schuschnigg is still in prison. When Hitler violated his pledged word and grabbed Bohemia and Moravia, he tried to lay violent hands on President Eduard Benes, the last chief executive of the Czechoslovak republic. But Benes escaped the net. When Nazi armies by stealth and by treachery invaded Norway, and when King Haakon refused to come to heel, Nazi aviators by Hitler's orders tried to capture him and, failing that, to bomb him. Haakon escaped the bombs and the Nazi agents and got away to England.

It has been suggested that Petain and his cabinet are helpless in all these matters, but it comes to the same thing whether the government is a Nazi model or a Nazi puppet. It does not represent the freely spoken will of the French people—those people whose watchwords for 150 years have been—"Liberty, Equality, Fraternity."

Our Weatherman Goes

VICTORIA IS TO LOSE MR. W. A. Thorn—the weatherman who had firmly established for himself in this community a reputation of which he has every right to be proud. For four years he has told us how the elements were going to behave next day, whether there would be rain or sun, wind or calm, warmth or cold. And his predictions have been unerringly accurate. Naturally he claims no superhuman qualities. He appreciates the liberties which Mother Nature takes when she is in the mood—and he knows not dismay when he is incontinently disposed after he has so carefully proposed. As he goes to his new post at Toronto University, therefore, he will take the good wishes of all the people of Greater Victoria who had grown to recognize him as the man on whose forecasts they confidently relied. Their loss will be tempered by the knowledge that Mr. William Burton, who has been chief assistant at Gonzales since the observatory was opened, will succeed him, and who may be depended upon to continue the technique—if that is the word—which served Mr. Thorn so admirably.

The U.S. election situation seems to be that Willie has the buttons while Roosevelt has the votes.

AND NOW JAPAN

From Toronto Star

Japan's action in entering into an alliance with the axis powers, and Spain's receptiveness to their approaches as well, illustrate the widely known fact that among human-kind, as in the jungle, there is a tendency to "gang up" against one who is fighting for his life. Japan sees a way in which to promote, as it hopes, its territorial ambitions in the Far East, while at the same time gaining strength against the great nation of the New World which it regards as its potential foe. If anything were needed to cement the alliance between Britain and the United States and further awaken the latter country to the perils which it faces, the action of Japan has assuredly that effect. The real problem is the effect of this latest development upon Russia. What will the Soviets do now?

It can hardly be said that Japan's action causes surprise. It has been foreshadowed by many recent events. Japan, like Italy, believes in grabbing while the grabbing seems to be good. The United States embargo can hardly be regarded as the determining factor in the course now taken, but rather the long-cherished hope of Japan that she may dominate Asia.

Bruce Hutchison

OTAWA.

NEW CONFIDENCE

THEY ARE FEELING a lot better in Ottawa about everything. A year ago at this time there was chaos in the capital as a nation at peace tried clumsily to make war. Six months ago there was a general feeling that the war effort of the nation was bogging down. Three months ago there was deepest gloom as France collapsed. Today there is a new confidence, not alone in victory, but in the part that Canada will play in it.

We are getting on with the war in Canada, faster and better than seemed possible at the beginning of the summer. Everybody agrees on that, even the government's enemies. The Financial Post, for instance, which spent the first nine months of the war crusading against the government and damning its defence contracts, has just published an 80-page supplement to show how "Victory is being forged in Canada." More important than journalistic views is the new spirit of enthusiasm and co-operation within the government departments, in the army, the navy and the air force. The whole atmosphere of the capital has completely changed since June.

There is a long way to go yet, however, and much to be done. Everywhere, and even in what may be termed the highest circles, there is a growing conviction that Canada must have a war cabinet. The gigantic machine of war which Canada has created is too big for the present governmental organization to manage.

REVOLUTION

FEW CANADIANS realize how far the war has revolutionized the industry, the finance and the whole life of the Canadian people—nor how far this process is certain to go before it is complete. Whether we should have gone further or could have gone further already under all the existing conditions, this correspondent does not pretend to know. But no Canadian can study the facts and figures, and visit the three fighting services, without amazement and satisfaction.

Here are a few of the latest facts of our war effort:

The Canadian Navy has grown from 1,756 officers and men at the outbreak of war to 10,752; and from 13 vessels to 125, with 74 under construction.

The regular army of 4,500 men at the outbreak of war has grown to an active service of 166,800, while the militia stands now at 107,000. In a few days Canada will start to train 300,000 more young men and thus create a trained force of 500,000 a year hence. Over 50,000 Canadians are now on active service in Britain, Iceland, the West Indies and Newfoundland. At the outbreak of the war Canada had an air force of 450 officers and 4,000 airmen. Now there are 1,950 officers and 23,000 airmen, most of them engaged in managing the huge Empire Air Training Plan. The plan in itself is one of the largest undertakings in the whole war, and will ultimately turn out 25,000 fliers a year. In a few days its first products, a trickle of highly-trained pilots, observers and gunners, will be complete. This trickle will grow month by month into such a steady flood of airmen as the world has not seen before.

AND PEAK NOT YET

ALL THIS MEANS that Canada has 309,302 fighting men now and the compulsory training plan will double that at least in the next 12 months. That the compulsory training plan is not adequate to make fully-seasoned soldiers is generally agreed, but it will lay a foundation on which further training can be built—as men are required and materials are available. Thus the country already has laid plans for creating a total fighting force greater than that produced in the whole of the last war.

This effort—and it is far from its peak yet—means such an industrial and financial upheaval as few Canadians have been able to grasp yet. For example, Canada has spent $345,000,000 so far on purchases of war supplies on its own account, purchased $100,000,000 Canadian goods for Britain, placed 35,000 orders, awarded 4,400 contracts and invested $225,000,000 in plant construction. This country is now producing shells, many sorts, machine guns, anti-aircraft guns, airplanes, field guns, chemicals, war vessels, delicate instruments, and huge quantities of mechanical transport. Soon it will be producing tanks.

PURPOSE AND RESOLVE

IT SOUNDED a little hollow and melancholy when Premier King said Canada would become the "Arsenal of the Empire." We are far from that goal still, but at this rate we shall attain it before the war is over. This country, without realizing it, is in the throes of an industrial and economic revolution, the deepest change in its whole history. But if you could see the boys in the camps, in the air training schools, in the Atlantic destroyers, if you could see the keen and happy look of them, the enthusiasm of a voluntary fighting force which knows precisely why it is in arms, you wouldn't waste a moment worrying about the cost in money or the cost in economic change.

A year ago this country was drifting, without definite purpose or direction, its people split by sectional quarrels, its politics aimless and rather pathetic. Today you can feel all over the country a new sense of purpose and resolve. In Ottawa you can see, through all the bungling of the past, a war machine which is only beginning now to roll but will be more formidable when complete than anyone had dared to imagine. After a swing through it today you have, for the first time in your life, the conviction that this country is growing up at last and will never go back to its pre-war adolescence.

Elmore Philpott

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.

PRINCE WILLUS

ON THE BOAT coming north I met a happy looking little man who spent most of his time trying to do me favors. I concluded it must be because I would listen to him. He told me his life's story, how he came to Rupert about 1909, fought in the American army in the war, then came back to this city to spend the rest of his life here. I put him down as a Scandinavian of some sort, especially as he told me with great enthusiasm about somebody he called "Prince Willus." It seemed that this Prince Willus had a heart of gold, and was a regular lion heart when it came to looking after the poor and down-trodden.

I was ashamed to admit, even to myself, ignorance of the existence of this remarkable man, and began cautiously to cross-question Happy Face about the period in which this remarkable prince lived. I asked, "You don't mean Prince Rupert, do you?" although I knew perfectly well he did not, for prince or no prince, Rupert was nothing more nor less than a sea-going gangster of earlier times, a pirate if ever there was one.

The little man looked at me with surprise and reproach. "No, no, no. I mean Prince Willus—the one who was king before this one." He was referring, of course, to the former Prince of Wales.

TAKING OVER TOFINO

Tofino Correspondent in West Coast Advocate

I would like to say something on the Japanese question in Tofino.

There are about 40 Japanese families there and up to the present time they have been living on leased land in small shacks they built themselves on the outskirts of the municipality.

Now one of these families has bought a small house in the middle of the residential part of village. This is a great blow to people living nearby. In the first place we don't like living next door to a Japanese. Then again, anyone wishing to sell property nearby will have to sell to them or not at all, because no white person would buy a home in the same block.

It seems there should be some kind of law to protect people with good homes from this kind of thing. But unless the government steps in and helps us, it looks as though we will all have to move out and give them the place.

A Tofino Home Owner.

WHO WOULDN'T EAT WITH THE R.E.S?

From Cowichan Leader

For those who think that Britain is a "beleaguered victim" in regard to food, here is a sample menu of the regular dinner at a Royal Engineers' officers' mess, as received by a Duncan resident:

Grapefruit cocktail. Soup: Mushroom. Fish: Halibut. Poultry: Roast chicken. Bread sauce. Cambridge sausage. Vegetables: Cauliflower, golden ball potatoes, mashed potatoes. Sweet: Steamed ginger melba, fresh fruit salad and cream. Savoury: Welsh rarebit. Cheese and biscuits, coffee.

Hearty repasts are by no means confined to officers' messes. Here is what a sister of another Duncan resident described having for dinner on the day of writing: Beefsteak and kidney pudding, beans and potatoes, apple tart and custard, tea.

"HALF-BREED"

From Vancouver Province

This was a real happening in a downtown Vancouver registration booth during the recent national registration. A middle-aged chap in the garb of a workman came to be registered. He gave his racial origin as Polish, and his marital status as "married."

"Is your wife a Pole, too?" asked the young registrar.

"No; she is a half-breed," replied the man.

"Oh! Let me see. I can't put down 'half-breed.' I'd better have both racial origins. What is she besides being part Indian?"

"My wife is not part Indian," said the applicant truculently, "she's a half-breed. She's half Scotch and half Irish."

PEST TO FIGHT A PEST

Among the most complicated systems of checks and balances is Nature, itself. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has been making use of this fact for a long time in its war on pests. The department's latest exploit is reported to be the culture of a disease germ that preys, almost solely as far as is known, on Japanese beetles, the enemy of crops. The germs, planted in a few young beetles, multiply with tremendous rapidity and spread from one beetle to another. In sections of the country where the new remedy has been tested, it is said that the Japanese invaders are dying like beetles.

SIX HOURS' SLEEP

From Health League of Canada

Dr. J. P. S. Cathcart, writing in the National Health Review, gives it as his opinion that most adults spend too much time in sleeping. He is evidently of the opinion that six hours a day rather than 10, form an adequate amount of sleep for the adult.

"Most patients," he says, "and not a few physicians, are still impressed by the admonitions of childhood that sleep, and lots of it, is extremely essential."

While this applies to children, Dr. Cathcart asserts that there is good reason to think that in adults the importance of sleep is overrated, and that most of our patients are troubled not by lack of sleep but by over-concern regarding some little delay in getting to sleep, or of frequent waking, or of a tired feeling in the following morning. One's personal opinion is that most persons, unless kept awake because of pain, sleep more than they think they do.

'Riffington' Party To Buy Sweaters For Sweepers

With the laudable aim of raising funds to purchase Indian sweaters for presentation to the crews who man the minesweepers around British and Canadian shores, about 300 guests attended a delightful "invitation" after-five party this afternoon at "Riffington," the Uplands, kindly loaned by the United States Consul and Mrs. Reed Paige Clark for the occasion.

The affair was arranged by a committee of well-known hostesses, including Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mrs. J. W. R. Beec, Mrs. W. B. Holmes, Mrs. C. F. Armstrong, Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. Chas. T. Beard, Mrs. Mae Rice and Mrs. W. H. M. May, and so spontaneous and generous a response met their initial plans that the financial success of the affair was assured well in advance.

The beneficiary cause was reflected in the novel decoration of the reception rooms, the Esquimalt Naval Station having kindly loaned large flags and bunting, which were used in the spacious entrance hall, where the buffet refreshments were served from a table hung with bunting. Clever replicas of Jack Tar's, mounted on plywood, directed the way to the dining-room and drawing-room, where flags, bunting and naval pennants formed the mural decorations.

A striking note of welcome was imported to the hall by the large illuminated naval crown hung in a prominent place. Palms and ferns enhanced the effectiveness of the novel and appropriate setting in the various reception-rooms.

Government House To Be Scene of Bridge Tea

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber are kindly opening Government House on the afternoon of Wednesday, October 16, for a bridge and mah jong party in aid of the Lord Mayor of London's fund for the victims of Nazi ruthlessness.

The party is being arranged by Mrs. Andrew McGavin and the wives of the city aldermen and of Reeves of the adjoining municipalities and the proceeds will be added to Mayor McGavin's fund for London's homeless.

Play will start at 2.30 and accommodation is available for about 130 tables, but, owing to pressure on space, it will not be possible to have additional guests at the tea hour. Those reserving tables are requested to make reservations as soon as possible with Mrs. Archie Willis, E.5769, or Mrs. R. R. Taylor, G.2696. In charge of the tea arrangements are Mrs. S. H. Okell, convener; Mrs. E. Williams and Mrs. Burgess Gadsden, who will welcome donations of cakes, etc., while Mrs. Duncan McTavish and Mrs. W. H. Davies are superintending the contest tickets.

September Was Top's With War Brides

OTTAWA (CP)—The popular notion that Canadian brides prefer June weddings is not borne out by an analysis of the 1939 vital statistics report which shows September as the first choice with 16,105 marriages. June is down in fourth place with only 10,663. Perhaps "it is the war."

October, with 14,938 and even November with 10,867 outdistanced June as the popular month for Canadian young people to set forth on life's greatest adventure in 1939.

In six provinces September was first choice although westerners of Alberta and Saskatchewan preferred October weddings and British Columbians preferred December to June. March is given a general cold shoulder.

ESQUIMALT C.Y.O.

The Esquimalt C.Y.O. will hold a dance on Tuesday, October 8, in the Queen of Peace parish hall on Old Esquimalt Road. There will be novelty dances and prizes. Len Acres' orchestra will be in attendance. Tickets may be obtained from members.

Mrs. Cyril Webster, the former Joan Teasdale, and her bridesmaid, Miss Sheila Sangster, after her marriage at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on Saturday evening.

Social and Personal

Mr. A. H. Booth of Wells, formerly of Prince George, is now resident in Courtenay and will be joined there shortly by his wife.

Mr. Merrill Blyth of Los Angeles, after a short visit in Victoria with his father, Mr. F. P. Blyth, Qu'Appelle Street, has left for the South.

Dr. and Mrs. Hermann Robertson, Clive Drive, Oak Bay, who have been spending a few weeks motoring on the mainland, returned home this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Temple and daughter, Cecil, who have been spending the summer at Boston Bar, B.C., have returned to their home, "Twin Alders," Langford Lake.

Mrs. Bernard E. LeFevre, Bank Street, has as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hubert and Miss Natalie Hubert of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Blake of Oakland, California.

Shirley St. Clair Smith has arrived in Victoria from Hillingdon, London, England, and will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. F. St. Clair Kitching, 1732 Bank Street, for the duration of the war.

Yesterday Mrs. E. W. Hetherington entertained at a luncheon party at her home on Beach Drive in compliment to Miss Natalie Hubert of San Francisco. Mrs. Leonard Rolph of Vancouver, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Hetherington, has returned home.

Members of the Kia-Ora Club held a dinner at the Mayfair recently, when a gift of English pottery was presented to the retiring president, Mrs. Stewart Smith, and the retiring secretary, Mrs. A. Stewart. The guests included Mesdames D. Stephens, S. Smith, A. Proven, N. Goyette, R. Lamb, D. Munroe, G. Allan, C. Rawlings, F. French, H. Lock, H. Jones and G. Page. A meeting and social was held later at the home of Mrs. A. Proven, Austin Avenue, when plans for the coming season were discussed.

Last evening Mrs. H. W. Hitchman and Miss Violet Owendon were joint hostesses at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Edna Scoble, whose marriage to Mr. R. W. Owendon will take place this month. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Hitchman, Acton Street. On her arrival the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of red roses. The many useful gifts were concealed in a large carton covered with mauve and yellow crepe paper. Mauve asters and yellow chrysanthemums were used in decoration of the rooms. Games and contests formed the evening's amusement and refreshments were served from a table centred with a silver bowl of asters and chrysanthemums. The guests included Miss Edna Scoble, Mesdames R. L. Scoble, J. R. Owendon, Ed Taylor, E. Smart, Waites, Reginald Scoble, Sam Smart, Simpson, Hancock, Phil Foster, Davies, J. Scroggie, Vi Taylor, Nan Clements, and the Misses D. Selden, Eunice Davies, Elsie Cross, K. Foxford, Vera Parfitt, Lillian Parfitt, Anita Davies, Dot Smart, Ruth Wallace, Muriel Carter, Irene Scoble, Margaret Scroggie, Ann Patterson, and Gladys, Edith, Evelyn and Dorothy Hitchman.

Victoria Girl Is Bride in East

Of wide interest on Vancouver Island was the marriage which took place quietly at 10.30 a.m. on Monday, September 23, at St. Matthias Church, Westmount, Montreal, between Miss Margaret Frank, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Frank, 3023 Uplands Road, Victoria, and Mr. Charles Petersen, son of Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Petersen, South Shields, County Durham, England. Rev. Canon Gilbert Oliver performed the ceremony. The bride was for two and a half years on the nursing staff of the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay.

Given in marriage by Mr. E. N. Mercer, the bride was beautifully gowned in a French grey ensemble of light wool crepe, with turban and veil and accessories to match, and wore a corsage bouquet of tiny sweetheart roses. She was attended by Mrs. E. N. Mercer, and Mr. Waters supported the bridegroom.

After the quiet ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mercer, Aberdeen Avenue, Westmount, the young couple leaving later for a honeymoon in the Laurentians.

The bridegroom is with His Majesty's merchant navy and has now sailed with his ship, and the bride has returned to her post as Junior Instructor in the physiotherapy department at the University of Toronto and is making her home at 169 St. George Street, Toronto. She expects to be in Toronto for the duration of the war.

Weddings

HOLLAND-PORTER

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 1.30 this afternoon, Rev. J. L. W. McLean united in marriage Mary Catherine May, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Porteous, 415 Parry Street, and Mr. Ralph Victor Holland, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Holland, Inverness Street. The church organist rendered the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a grey flannel suit, grey felt hat trimmed with brown, and a Harris tweed topcoat in grey, brown and blue tones. Her corsage bouquet was of yellow rosebuds. Miss Vera Sinclair, the bridesmaid, wore a frock of solid blue wool and a black hat. Mr. Jack Holland, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the service, a reception was held at 738 Fort Street, where the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Porteous, gowned in black with black hat, assisted by Mrs. Holland, in mauve and black with hat to match.

The bride and bridegroom left for a honeymoon in the Okanagan and will later make their home in Victoria.

GEAR-EVANS

A quiet wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 12.30 in St. Mark's Church, Central Salt Spring Island, when Daisy Amelia, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Evans, Ganges Harbor, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Henry Gear, only son of Mrs. E. Allison of Galiano Island and the late Sgt. H. C. Gear of Winnipeg.

For the occasion the church was beautifully decorated with white and pink flowers. Rev. C. H. Popham performed the ceremony. Mrs. V. C. Best was at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a tailored suit of Air Force blue, with wine-colored hat and wine accessories, and a corsage of lilac of the valley. She was unattended and Constable W. G. Bailey supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a largely-attended reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Evans, mother of the bride, in an ensemble of Royal blue silk crepe with matching accessories and corsage of pink rosebuds, was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Allison, in a smart suit of blue wool crepe and corsage of yellow rosebuds. The young couple stood before a fireplace banked with zinnias and ferns. Refreshments were served from a table centred by a four-tier wedding-cake and decorated with vases of rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Gear left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver and other points on the mainland, the bride wearing a sand polo travelling coat over her

Chapter Plans Annual Child Welfare Shower

Gonzales Chapter J.O.D.E. will hold its annual child welfare shower and tea at the home of Mrs. T. A. Rickard on October 25 at 3.30 p.m., and a bridge tea at the home of Mrs. E. Ross Gardiner, 530 Dallas Road, on November 1. Plans to this end were made at the monthly meeting of the chapter held yesterday. Mrs. Walter C. Nichol, the regent, in the chair.

According to the report of the war work convener, the following comforts were forwarded during the month to headquarters: 17 cloth helmets, nine sweaters, two pair of mitts, one cap, five scarfs, 38 individual parcels each containing a pair of socks and a handkerchief. The total value was $78.05. A number of donations and weekly contributions.

Canadian Women Unable to Go To Britain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. Bernice O'Brien of Winnipeg, who has been accepted for work with the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service in England, said yesterday she had been refused permission by the Dominion government to travel to Great Britain to take up the work.

In an interview with the Canadian Press, Mrs. O'Brien said she had been told the government was unable to grant exemption to her from the order-in-council passed June 4 prohibiting women other than those employed in the armed forces of Canada, and children under 12, from traveling in European war zones.

Mrs. O'Brien, whose husband is overseas with the Canadian Active Service Force, expressed disappointment at being prevented from "doing her bit." She said that since the story of her hopes of going to England had been made public she had received dozens of letters from girls all over the Dominion asking her how they might join the territorial service.

"Most of them have taken part in other war work," she said, "and many have taken courses in mechanics and truck driving."

Mrs. O'Brien had offered to pay her own passage to England after British authorities informed her a short time ago her application had been accepted.

LOCAL WOMEN READY
Mrs. Bernice O'Brien of Winnipeg, who has been refused permission to go to Great Britain to engage in war duties, is only one of hundreds, according to Mrs. Norman Kennedy of Victoria, controller of the Women's Service Corps of British Columbia.

"Hundreds of the 1,500 members of our organization are ready to leave for the Old Land to help in first aid, army clerical work, air raid precaution work, transport drivers, and all branches of the commissariat," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"About a month ago 20 of our members were ready to leave immediately on receiving a cable from Dame Helen Gwynne-Vaughan, director-in-chief of the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Services of Great Britain, that recruits were needed. The cable stated that enrollment depended upon their arrival in London."

"We took up the matter with the Department of National Defence at Ottawa and were advised that no women would be permitted to leave Canada for the war zone other than those employed in the armed forces of Canada. When those restrictions are removed our members are ready to volunteer their services for overseas work."

Red Cross Notes

A rush call of a noncivilian nature was recently received at Red Cross headquarters for dozens of pairs of sheets and pajamas, scores of pillow slips, bedspreads, towels, dressing gowns, hot water bottle covers, besides a large quantity of other supplies. Red Cross stocks were drawn on, but many articles, among them 90 pairs of sheets, had to be finished. However, "many hands make light work," and thanks to the co-operation of Red Cross voluntary women workers, within 24 hours after receipt of the request the work was completed in the workroom at the distributing centre. Local Red Cross is always ready and fully equipped to meet any emergency the moment it arises.

FOR BRITISH BABIES

An urgent appeal is made by Red Cross for baby supplies (new), such as vests, bonnets, coats, booties, etc., for the unfortunate sufferers from air raids in England. Finished articles will be gratefully received at the Red Cross Distributing Centre, Belmont Building. Further particulars may be obtained by phoning E 8922.

CLIFFSIDE UNIT

The Cliffside unit met in the Red Cross Workroom on Monday, and the first quarterly reports were read, showing that from May to September, inclusive, the sum of $100 had been raised in the district. The convener's work report also showed that the number of finished articles returned to headquarters totaled 150, including 25 pairs of socks, stockings and 25 heavy sweaters. In addition to this a large number of garments have been made by this unit for refugees, including 2 large quilts. Further plans were discussed as to the raising of funds for the Red Cross drive.

The Gorge unit of the Red Cross will meet on Thursday at 2 p.m. in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, Tillamook Road. All members are requested to be present and any new members will be heartily welcomed.

Carne Rebekah Lodge No. 45 I.O.O.F., will hold a social evening, after the meeting on Thursday in the Oddfellows' Hall, Douglas Street. There will be dancing to Evelyn Holt's orchestra and cards, 500 will be played. Refreshments will be served.

The monthly meeting of the committee was held at the Aged Women's Home yesterday afternoon at 2.30. Mrs. W. L. Clay, the president, in the chair. The usual routine of business was proceeded with and the monthly accounts ordered paid.

Four of the inmates passed away during the month, but their places were very quickly filled, and there is still a long waiting list. The committee for the month will be Mesdames G. A. Lister, convener; Harold Grant and F. W. Vincent. Kind friends have been very generous in sending fruit and flowers for the benefit of those in the Home, and Mr. John Dean sent a substantial donation of $100, which was very acceptable, especially as it will be needed for the new building now nearing completion.

Church 'At Home' Welcomes Rectors

Three new Church of England ministers in local churches were welcomed to the city at the annual harvest "at home" of parishioners and friends of Christ Church Cathedral last night in the gymnasium of the Memorial Hall.

New ministers welcomed were Rev. J. R. Fife, assistant minister at the Cathedral; Rev. George Biddle, rector at St. John's Church, and Dr. W. C. Western, minister at St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church.

Dean Spencer H. Elliott of the Cathedral opened the evening with an address in which he emphasized the growing fellowship within the church in these times of stress. By common trials and common sorrows people were being drawn more closely together.

This year's "at home" was in direct contrast with last year's gathering when Rev. A. E. Hendy was given a farewell. This year's "at home" marked the arrival of his successor and of two other ministers of neighboring parishes.

Bishop H. E. Sexton in welcoming the new churchmen spoke of the opportunity which had been taken to make them feel at home in Victoria and in the diocese, and voiced his desire to staff the parishes adequately.

Mr. Fife, Mr. Biddle and Dr. Western replied to the words of welcome and were enthusiastic in their new assignments.

A short entertainment was provided to which Miss Nora Garcia and Dean Elliott contributed. Refreshments were served.

Flower Show Raised $73.55 for Red Cross

The chrysanthemum show at the Crystal Garden last Saturday raised $73.55 for the Red Cross. Alderman D. D. McFavish announced last night at the meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society in the Council Chamber of the City Hall.

E. E. Peden gave a most valuable talk on "Soils, Fertilizers and Composts," with particular reference to the needs of Greater Victoria farms and gardens. He gave advice on fertilizer use and answered many questions.

Winners in the monthly competitions were as follows: Three sprays of chrysanthemums—1, Mrs. Angus McKay; 2, A. E. Powell. Six dessert apples—1, L. E. Rogers; 2, A. E. Powell. W. H. Warren, president, who presided, said Japanese chrysanthemum growers of Victoria would be invited to show blooms at the society's annual potted 'mum show at the Crystal Garden, October 31, November 1 and 2.

H. G. Penman Moves Into New Offices

One year ago H. G. Penman returned to Victoria after conducting successfully a general advertising agency business for 20 years in Seattle. Mr. Penman reports that he has received a cordial welcome from the mercantile and professional firms of Victoria and has built up a substantial clientele among the leading advertisers of the city. Mr. Penman announces that he has moved his office to the Henley-Hepburn Building, 737 Port Street, where he will be glad to advise and consult with other advertisers who would like to talk over their advertising plans or problems.

Loggers' Ladies Are Entertained at Functions

While their husbands are deep in the knotty problems of the logging industry, the wives and daughters of the delegates to the 31st session of the Pacific Logging Congress, which opened this morning at the Empress Hotel, are enjoying the social amenities at a round of functions arranged for their entertainment.

The visiting ladies were welcomed at an informal reception held this morning in the lounge of the hotel by a committee headed by Mrs. E. C. Manning, wife of the Chief Forester of British Columbia, as official hostess, and Mrs. Fred B. Brown of Vancouver, chairman, and the following wives of B.C. members: Mrs. R. V. Stuart, Mrs. E. P. Stamm, Mrs. Charles Pearce, Mrs. George F. Cornwall, Mrs. C. Dewey Anderson, Mrs. R. J. Filberg, Mrs. O. R. Miller, Mrs. A. Whelan, Mrs. Gordon Manary and Mrs. Walter J. Ryan.

DELIGHTFUL TEA

Mrs. E. W. Hamber, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Rice, was a guest at the delightfully-arranged tea held in the foyer this afternoon, when the hostesses were the Wire Rope Manufacturing and Equipment Company, Seattle, and the Pacific Car and Foundry Company, also of Seattle. Mrs. W. E. Bouschor of Portland, wife of the president of the Wire Rope Company, represented the hosts and assisted the other hostesses in receiving.

The buffet table was beautifully arranged with chrysanthemums and lighted tapers in silver candelabras. During the tea hour Mrs. Pierre Timp contributed baritone solos, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Timp.

YOUNG LOGGETTES

This evening cocktails will be served at 7 in the Duke of Kent Room, and will be followed by a "Young Loggettes" dinner in the Georgian Lounge at 7.30, when Mrs. Fred M. Brown will preside and the hosts will be the Caterpillar Tractor Company, Miss Elsie M. Bergh, Portland, and Mrs. Elsie M. Bergh, Portland, who will give some Highland dances and there will be a brief program of moving pictures showing "Some New Wrinkles in Logging."

Thursday will be a Crystal Garden day, "noon to midnight," when the wives and children of visiting congress members will be the guests of the Allied Industries of British Columbia at an all-day-long program, which will include 23 aquatic events by professional and amateur swimmers and divers from western Canada, Oregon and Washington. A dance and cabaret, commencing at 8 and continuing until 2, will be included in the entertainment. One of the special "stunts" will be a trapeze act over the Crystal pool.

Friday's program is to include a motor tour of the city and environs, with a visit to Butchart's Gardens. Luncheon will be at

City Council Topics

Land Sales Continue—
Congratulations to Navy

The city moved out of the $50 lot field yesterday to approve six property deals returning a total of $4,606, on recommendation of the lands committee. One parcel on the north of Portland between Garbally and the end of Portland sold for $200, another on the south of Bay between Turner and Bridge brought $1,400 on terms, a third on the south of Cormorant between Government and Store yielded $1,106, a fourth on the north of Superior between Government and Douglas was purchased for $500, a fifth on the northeast corner of Douglas and San Jose $600, and the sixth on the south of Langford between Russell and Mary sold for $806. An extension of three months was granted Ben Pruss for payments due on the Occidental and Jubilee Hotels on the understanding the purchaser would meet outstanding taxes on the property.

On a motion of Alderman Archie Wills the council instructed the city clerk to send letters of congratulation to the commanding officer of the Pacific Coast Division of the Royal Canadian Navy and to Commander C. T. Beard, officers and men of H.M.C.S. Prince Robert on the capture of the German freighter Weser.

On the recommendation of the water board purchase of 150 five-eighths-inch meters was ordered from Gordon Belyea Limited at $12.92 apiece.

The council instructed the city solicitor to disclaim any liability for the claim made by Mrs. E. Wakell and requested the mayor and city solicitor to attend to any settlement that might be made.

Purchase of logs for cribwork from E. Peatt, Colwood, at a cost of $184.50, was authorized.

Approval was given a public works committee report calling for laying of a cement sidewalk on the north side of Green Street at a cost to the city of $90. Similar action was taken on a recommendation covering sewer, storm sewer and water extensions for a new subdivision.

Tenders were called for an addition to the Old Men's Home.

Alderman W. H. Davies' request for authorization to have the city celebration committee organize a campaign throughout Canada and the United States to supply Christmas cheer to the needy and war-distressed people of Great Britain, was granted. The alderman outlined his ideas on the proposal, suggesting it might be made to cover the entire continent north of Mexico and would entail sending of food-stuffs and other cheer to parts of Britain that had been bombed and to those who might find their Christmas table impaired by imposition of rations.

A sincere tribute to the successful efforts of Mayor Andrew McGavin, his alderman and particularly the ladies, he had contributed towards raising money for the London Lord Mayor's Fund was paid by Alderman Ed Williams. He noted the Chinese community had given generously and added that the Japanese, as a community, were conspicuous by their absence from the donation list. Alderman J. A. Worthington added another measure of praise for the ladies in the campaign.

A brief report on the Union of British Columbia Municipalities' convention was tendered by Alderman S. H. Okell. The alderman stressed the intensity with which all delegates had worked at the gathering.

Communications on the proposed amendment of the early closing by-law were tabled for later consideration after the council heard a report from the police commission stating that body was shelving the issue for two months to permit retail employees and organizations to submit a draft of suggested alterations to the legislation.

Writers of complaints to the City Council over alleged undue noise in the city will be informed by the council that the matter has been turned over to the chief of police for attention. Decision to take that action followed reading of letters from various sources protesting mainly against car horn honking and noisy wedding processions.

The issue brought the comment from Mayor Andrew McGavin that citizens could not expect the same quiet today they had previously enjoyed since the presence of soldiers and other services in large numbers, and the increase in the population tended to create more noise. Alderman Dewar blamed wedding parties chiefly for the trouble, as did Alderman Gadsden, who stated soldiers should not be blamed.

The Colwood Park Association's suggestions for renewal of the Willows Park lease and offer to construct a new clubhouse as well as improve the stables were referred to the finance committee for study and a report. Alderman Ed Williams requested that members of the council be permitted to sit in when the issue was discussed. Alderman Wills asked that all aldermen be given a copy of the lease and a financial statement together with similar documents on the B.C. Agricultural Association, whose lease at the Willows terminates next year at the same time as that of the Colwood Park Association.

The water board was asked to report on a proposal of the Cameron Lumber Company covering financing of improved water services for the plant.

A letter from A. K. Mather offering $500 for property in the SIDE GLANCES

"Would you mind walloping me a couple of times, Mister? I wanna see how this book takes a licking!"

Lake District was also referred to the water board for a report.

The purchasing agent was instructed to call tenders for 11 topcoats and 37 pairs of trousers for the police force.

A comprehensive report on the Pacific Coast Building Officials' conference in Salt Lake City, submitted by D. K. Kennedy, city building inspector, brought praise from the council. Mr. Kennedy gave details of deliberations of the conference, stated the interchange of ideas as it was of benefit to municipal building administration and added he had heard warm praise for the city of Victoria from all quarters during the convention.

A special by-law regulating removal of soil from lands was passed through preliminary readings by the council despite opposition from Aldermen Williams, Gadsden and Davies. The three aldermen saw in it possibility of uncalculated interference by municipal authorities on a man's gardening activities. The by-law aims at giving the council control powers which would prevent excavations of an unsightly or dangerous nature.

Resignations of J. H. Warriner and C. W. Keeper were accepted.

George Rice and Albert Yule were appointed permanent members of the fire department on completion of their probationary terms.

Garbage Crusher
To Be Installed

The V.M.D.-made garbage crusher, constructed to bid a final farewell, not au revoir, to refuse dumped at sea, will be installed on the lower deck of the existing garbage wharf in the near future.

Yesterday afternoon Alderman Ed Williams, its chief champion, fought a motion through the council to have the equipment set up on the existing site rather than on a proposed location for which the city has just received foreshore rights. He won his point on a six-to-four division. With him on the vote were Mayor Andrew McGavin and Aldermen D. D. McTavish, W. H. Davies, B. J. Gadsden and S. H. Okell.

Alderman Archie Wills, sponsor of an amendment to table the issue pending a canvass of businesses in the vicinity of the garbage wharf to see if they approved of the plan, voted with Aldermen J. A. Worthington, W. L. Morgan and R. A. C. Dewar in the negative.

Costs of the installation will be approximately $3,285.

CHANGE VIEWS ON SITE

Alderman Dewar raised question over the site formerly proposed, saying he understood the change was to be made to avoid the existing dust nuisance to businesses in the garbage wharf area.

Alderman Williams explained the change of attitude on the location. The new equipment would benefit from proximity to the existing incinerator and other plant, he said, adding the nature of the construction, with a cover, "will eliminate dust as far as possible and will be a vast improvement."

The public works committee, he added, intended to investigate the acquisition of the other site with a view to cleaning up the waterfront.

Alderman Worthington thought the alternate site would entail less expense. Alderman Morgan repeated complaints he had heard

CITY APPROVES
ELEVATOR TERMS

Over-riding the opposition of Alderman B. J. Gadsden, the City Council yesterday afternoon approved the lands committee recommendation calling for renewal of the Ogden Point grain elevator lease to the Gillespie Grain Company on a basis of 30 per cent of the net returns from the business with a minimum guarantee to the city of $16,000 a year. The renewal was for one year only.

Alderman Gadsden fought stubbornly in his one-man campaign against acceptance of the scheme, but, apart from saying he would rather see the government take the elevator over, had no alternative suggestion to make. It was not fair to the city, he said, to let Mr. Gillespie take 30 per cent of the net with no obligations. He believed Victoria should get two-thirds. The elevator would hold a million bushels of wheat and storage would return $5,000 a month, he declared. He believed the city should go further into the matter, he said, adding that lack of storage facilities would leave wheat heaped on the ground on the prairies this year.

ASKS ALTERNATIVE

Alderman W. L. Morgan remarked Alderman Gadsden might be right, but added the elevator had been a white elephant for years. Now the city was securing some return for it. Had Alderman Gadsden an alternative proposal? he asked.

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, lands committee chairman, noted the committee had secured an extra $1,000 from Mr. Gillespie.

If the elevator were filled to capacity continually the 50 per cent return to the city would be more than $16,000, he added. Alderman Gadsden might be right, he continued, and he himself thought the city was not getting enough money. But where, he queried, could it get more?

Alderman J. A. Worthington suggested the gamble was not the city's and that Mr. Gillespie was a good tenant.

Alderman S. H. Okell noted the elevator had been a white elephant and that it was revenue producing at present.

HALF A LOAF

"Half a loaf is better than none," Mayor McGavin interjected.

Alderman Gadsden, speaking as a grain man, said the situation was different from what it had ever been before.

"I would rather see it offered to the government," he declared as he considered the elevator and the terms.

Alderman Archie Wills said such an offer could not be made because Mr. Gillespie had an option for another year and could carry on at the old terms. The land committee had agreed with Mr. Gillespie for two days and finally got an extra thousand dollars.

Alderman Gadsden again called for further investigation.

F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, explained Mr. Gillespie already had an option on the elevator and could use it for a year.

Aldermen generally thought the city was entitled to a greater share, but saw no means of getting it.

The issue went to the vote and the lease was approved with Alderman Gadsden in the negative.

Esquimalt Council

Sale of property was the main business of the Esquimalt Council last evening.

Three offers to purchase pieces of property were received. Two were accepted and the third rejected.

An offer of $50 by Miss Emily Phillips for a lot on Constance Avenue was accepted along with a $20 offer from Loren McNutt for a strip of property on Admirals Road.

Mrs. O. M. Cammille's offer of $200 for a lot on Victoria View Road was not enough. The council wanted $350 for the piece of property.

A committee was chosen comprising Councillors Albert Heald, chairman; Frederick Eaton and G. R. Guillemaud to consider four tenders received for a two or two and a half ton truck for the public works department. The committee will make a report at the next meeting.

Ted Johnson asked permission to operate a poolroom in the old bank building at the corner of Esquimalt Road and Collision Street. His request was referred to the chief of police.

Miss Ruth W. Johnson's request for a school sign at the corner of Lampson and Lyall Streets was referred also to the chief of police.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile doesn't flow freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no catalyst or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! This 1941 Dodge Kingsway is an easy car to drive. The power rating is stepped up to 88 horsepower. A new getaway gear in second speed gives new flashing performance at the stop lights. Most of the time it won't be necessary to use low gear. On the Dodge De Luxe Special a Power Shift is available at slight extra cost.

The famous Dodge engine has added long life and economy features that mean still smoother operation and money saved... New oil bath air cleaner, new float-type oil strainer, new 3/8" piston ring, new long life main and connecting rod bearings.

These 1941 Dodge bodies have a new spring counter-balanced trunk lid that opens and closes without effort. New one-piece hood opens from the front. Battery is under the hood for convenience—in the fan blast to keep it cool.

Interiors are the most luxurious Dodge has ever turned out. Famous Dodge chair-height seats, the enemy of driving fatigue, are found in all Dodge cars. New door handles point straight down and must be pulled straight toward the passenger to open the door, thus preventing most accidental door openings.

Check and Compare the Dodge Kingsway with ANY car. You don't have to pay more to own a Dodge. Inspect and drive a Dodge Kingsway and see if it isn't the greatest value you ever saw in the very lowest price field.

Phone your Dodge dealer—he will be glad to give you a ride today!

These three keep the engine Clean, make it run quieter... last longer

NEW SPRING COUNTERBALANCED TRUNK LID goes up without effort. Stays up without a locking device. Closes without banging.

Dodge Aluminum Alloy Pistons are fitted with a New Compression Ring that reduces "blow-by" especially at high speeds.

AMAZING DEVELOPMENT of this steel-backed, thin-babbitt, removable main and connecting rod bearings means longer life at these vital points.

Chamber Directors Hold Meeting

At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the Board of Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce it was moved that a letter of condolence be sent to the family of the late Charles French expressing the sympathies of the board, of which Mr. French was a member.

President Duncan McBride spoke briefly on the value and assistance that Mr. French had been not only as a director of the chamber but also to the community as a whole. The directors present stood a moment in silent tribute.

It was moved and seconded that J. H. Beatty be elected to fill the vacancy left by Mr. French.

G. H. Hartman, chairman of the committee on visiting agricultural exhibitions in the district, reported that the chamber had been represented at eight various fairs, namely the fairs at Sooke, Pender Island, Duncan, Cobble Hill, Combes, Victoria, Ladysmith and Saanichton.

The committee for the investigation into rental increases was discharged in as much as the government had taken over the matter.

It was reported that government funds for the repairing of the highway to Colwood are not available at the time.

all the pupils of the school. Lois Brain, a senior pupil, conveyed the best wishes of the pupils.

Rev. F. Vernon Venables took the harvest festival service and preached an appropriate sermon in St. Matthew's Church on Sunday morning. The church was beautifully decorated with wheat, oats, flowers, fruit and vegetables.

The Dominion of Canada ranks first among world exporters of wheat.

INSTRUCTORS AT NIGHT SCHOOL

Capt. F. Baylis, Rowan Mackenzie and Ernest Eve have been appointed to complete the list of instructors needed for the forthcoming session of the Victoria Night School.

Capt. Baylis will conduct a class in navigation to be held on Thursday evenings. This class is not listed in the syllabus, as some difficulty was found in obtaining a qualified instructor. The school is fortunate in obtaining Capt. Baylis' services, for he is an old-time mariner, and has taught navigation classes in Hongkong for a number of years.

Ernest Eve will be in charge of the class in aviation and Rowan Mackenzie will conduct the continuation class. Both are well qualified in their respective subjects.

Electrical devices now carried on handcars quickly measure strains on railroad rails.

A CHALLENGE TO CANADIANS

Help for the Helpless!

A BABY GIRL tosses on a hospital cot with painful injuries from bomb splinters. The Red Cross provides surgical supplies, dressings, X-Ray equipment for her care.

A BRITISH MAN-OF-WAR, her course suddenly altered from tropic seas, reaches a Canadian port in mid-winter, her crew suffering from exposure. The Red Cross supplies warm clothing.

A MOTHER WITH THREE CHILDREN loses home and belongings in an air raid. The Red Cross sends blankets and warm clothing.

A CANADIAN SOLDIER is discharged from hospital to rejoin his unit in Britain's line of defense. He receives a warm sweater and socks from the Red Cross.

A CANADIAN MOTHER receives word that her son in the Air Force is missing. The Red Cross locates him in a prison camp, advises the mother, sends parcels of food, clothing, magazines and tobacco to the son.

In a thousand ways the Canadian Red Cross is helping the sick, the wounded, the suffering. You can share in this great work. Support the Red Cross with all your heart.

Luxury Features In Trainee Camps

Nothing too good for the boys but no pampering. That is the word from the defence department as it puts the finishing touches to 39 military training centres which will be ready for occupancy by 30,000 young men eight days hence. At Gordon Head the local training camp is being rushed to completion.

There's hot and cold water awaiting the boys when they start 30 days of compulsory militia training. They will have beds with springs and mattresses, 68 to a "hutment" which is a kind of apartment house hut.

Asked whether there would be plugs, especially for electric razors, the spokesman said he was not aware of provision for these ultra modern face-shaving gadgets, but there would be electric outlets.

WELL HEATED

There will not be any sheets according to present plans, but the 21-year-old men, single or widowers without children who start the first training period in the chill of autumn, will find plenty of blankets. Besides that the hutments will be heated.

The department has particularly in mind the matter of keeping the feet in good shape for marching and has advised its training centre officers against the perils of holes in socks or badly darned socks.

The department has also issued special instructions regarding kitchens. All tables are to "smell sweet" and officers are particularly instructed as to the hygiene necessary to maintain a standard of health. The food will be good and plentiful.

Extra nourishment and

WINS NEW HONOR — Lieutenant Hugh F. Pullen has been assigned to command the St. Francis, one of the six destroyers turned over to the Royal Canadian Navy by the U.S. He has been in the navy since 1920 part of that time serving with the British fleet. He was the first Canadian to win the King's Dirk, a trophy awarded annually to the most gentlemanly cadet at the Royal Naval College.

luxuries obtainable in the canteens will be of the strictly "tee-total" variety. The canteens will go as far as cigarettes and tobacco but no alcoholic drinks will be available.

NO FATIGUES

The budget for the training centres recently mounted considerably by provision for kitchen and general utility staffs. The idea is that the young men during their brief period of training will be able to spend their time learning to drill and how to handle a rifle rather than doing fatigues in the kitchen and elsewhere.

The department however, the spokesman said, will feel justified if the compulsory military training proves to the young men of the country that the army is not a jail and that it is sometimes necessary to do things they do not want to do for the general welfare.

NEW LEAVE RULES

The defence department has revised orders governing the granting of leave in the Canadian Active Service Force.

The department said officers and other ranks may be granted leave up to 14 days, with pay, after six months' continuous service in the C.A.S.F. An additional 14 days' leave may be granted after each additional 12 months' continuous service.

The statement said the additional leave is not accumulative and 12 months must elapse between each period of leave granted.

In special cases, up to 10 days' compassionate leave may be granted, with pay, to officers or other ranks, irrespective of length of service in the C.A.S.F., on authority of the district officer commanding. Such compassionate leave is restricted to cases where the district officer commanding is satisfied there is urgent need for the grant.

48-HOUR LEAVES

Officers and men about to go overseas may be granted embarkation leave to provide two clear days at home. The fact an officer or soldier has had ordinary leave will in no way prejudice the grant of embarkation leave or furlough.

The statement said harvest leave may be granted to certain personnel of the C.A.S.F. under instruction from National Defence headquarters to district officers commanding.

Officers or other ranks may be granted sick leave or furlough under provisions of the King's regulations and orders for the Canadian militia.

Leave and furlough will not be granted to permit members of the C.A.S.F. to complete university education.

Members of the permanent force serving in the C.A.S.F. will be governed by the same orders as C.A.S.F. officers or other ranks when granted leave, but officers on retirement may be granted such leave as is authorized by the adjutant-general in each individual case. Other ranks on discharge may be granted furlough under provisions of the King's regulations and orders for the Canadian militia.

Leave and furlough from Canada to travel abroad is not permitted. Personnel of the C.A.S.F. serving overseas other than in the United Kingdom may be granted leave but such leave must be spent within the British Commonwealth. Officers and ranks serving in the United Kingdom will be granted leave in accordance with the orders approved by the senior combatant Canadian militia officer.

CONNAUGHTS AT NANAIMO

Welcomed by the cheers of hundreds of citizens who gathered at the pierhead, the British Columbia Regiment of the Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles from New Westminster marched off the Ss. Princess Joan yesterday afternoon at Nanaimo to occupy the military camp at Wakelash Farm, one mile west of the city. This camp is the one recently vacated by the nonpermanent forces.

Until huts are ready, work on which is now in progress, the permanent force stationed at the camp will total 2,000. A small rear party is expected on Thursday or Friday next to make up this number. When all the buildings for the permanent camp are completed, it is expected that at least 4,000 men will be in camp near the Coal City.

Lieut. Col. Carmichael is the officer commanding at the camp.

Letters to the Editor

DEVIL'S ISLAND

To the Editor:—Since the dawn of France, I have scanned the daily newspapers for information as to what would become of Devil's Island (the cancer of the western hemisphere), situated off the coast of French Guiana in South America, but to no avail. Will future French prisoners be confined there as before?

To my way of thinking, it would be advantageous to abolish that prison colony so that German fifth columnists, in the guise of French prisoners, would be prevented from worming their way into the western hemisphere. We are living in a changing world; we mustn't overlook any possible avenue of entrance that Hitler would take to gain a stronger foothold in the Americas.

ALBERT BRAGG.

DAY FOR ANIMALS

To the Editor:—It has been wisely said "the nobler a soul is the more of compassion it hath." No doubt there are persons (they may be right or wrong) who feel that in this time of emergency animal protection should be side-tracked. This does not seem to be the sentiment of men and women in the services, or the many individuals who are risking their own lives and enduring the horror of war in civil life.

The will to help animals, while primarily one of kindness, is not merely sentimental. Animals have their economic value. That their misery in war-torn countries and on the sea is acute cannot be denied and several splendid instances of rescue work by soldiers and sailors have been recorded.

Even mechanical weapons have not quite abolished the use of animals in war, and with the petrol shortage mules and horses are more in demand in civil life.

Societies and individuals whose merciful outlook is still undaunted are striving to alleviate their distress, though certain plans have to be curtailed by necessity. Animals deserted by evacuated persons, and those owned by men on active service are being aided, and shelters and veterinary centres are maintained.

One message says "I am writing to you as a soldier, which I became two months after war began... many people think that during a war we should think only about human beings... I think this is a very wrong view... we must make twice the effort." Another says: "The money that can be spared for the cause of animals is like a drop in the sea of their urgent needs. Their plight becomes increasingly great."

The object of a World Day for Animals set for this time since 1929, is to encourage a humane feeling generally, and to oppose cruelty and indifference in every way. The greatest religious teachers and philosophers have accentuated the rights of the humble to protection. Association with horror is liable to develop a certain complacency towards misery. "The quality of mercy is not strained," but there must still be compassion felt for animals.

Construction Totals Soar

Big War Plants, Airports Begun to Cost Millions

TORONTO — Construction activity, stimulated by Canada's war effort, reached a new high during September, when contracts awarded, as compiled by MacLean Building Reports Limited, totaled $32,260,000. Exceeded only during the past 10 years by the June, 1930, total of $34,728,200, it is 28.2 per cent greater than the August figure of $40,474,900. Contracts awarded for the year to date total $247,749,000, as compared with $150,781,900 for the same period of 1939, an increase of 64.5 per cent.

Commencement of a large industrial plant in Alberta altered the usual sequence of provincial totals. Ontario was first with $24,743,800; then Alberta, $10,945,600; Quebec, $5,672,200; Saskatchewan, $4,148,600; Manitoba, $4,030,100; British Columbia, $1,086,500; New Brunswick, $674,100; Nova Scotia, $561,700; Prince Edward Island, $497,000.

Industrial building accounted for more than half of the month's total with $26,801,800, business buildings amounted to $18,309,300, residential buildings $5,625,100, and engineering $1,523,900.

Vancouver Woman Killed By Fall

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Georgia L. McBain, 35, was killed last night when she fell 70 feet to a cement sidewalk from the top of a west end apartment house.

According to police reports, she had gone to the roof of Stanley Park Manor with her sister after complaining of the heat in their fourth floor suite. She apparently became dizzy after reaching the top and after walking over to the edge of the roof suddenly staggered, plunged over an 18-inch parapet and fell to the sidewalk.

As a badge of his profession, down to the 16th century, every European physician wore a ring.

Mrs. J. Langdon, 1042 View Street, reported to city police today a wallet containing $49 was stolen from her handbag while she was shopping on Fort Street.

A car stolen from the Quarter Cab Co. Ltd. yesterday morning between 6:15 and 7 was found by Provincial Police at Ladysmith yesterday afternoon.

The meeting of the Anglican Men's Fellowship of St. Michael's, Royal Oak, and St. Columba, Strawberry Vale, which was announced for Friday, has been postponed until Friday, October 11, at 8.

Oak Bay Liberal Association will meet at the Oak Bay Theatre Hall tomorrow night at 8. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., will speak and a special invitation is extended to all Liberals in the new part of the provincial Oak Bay riding.

Mah Ling was remanded until tomorrow for sentence by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court today on a charge of having opium in his possession. He pleaded guilty. Constable R. A. Davidson of the R.C.M.P. gave evidence of searching the accused's room and finding opium.

More Licenses For Cars Issued

Provincial police issued 4,922 more licenses for passenger cars in the first eight months of the year ending August 31 than in the same period of last year.

This year there were 95,247 licenses issued. Last year the number was 90,325.

The figures were up also for the number of licenses issued for commercial motor vehicles. This year 22,251 licenses were taken out and last year 21,676 were issued.

There should be more motorcycles on the streets also, according to the statistics. This year 1,335 licenses for motorcycles have been issued while last year the number at the end of August was 1,351. Trailer licenses were up slightly also. The figures were 3,286 to 3,100.

The number of passenger car licenses issued during August of this year was down in comparison with August of 1939. This year there were 1,723 licenses issued and last year 2,148.

It was the same case in issuance of commercial licenses during the month. This year there were 553 licenses issued and last year 622.

Seventy-six motorcycle licenses were taken out during this August, compared with 67 for the same month of 1939, but the number of trailer licenses this August was 199, compared with 229 for the same month of last year.

Remanded in Court On Defence Charge

John Alexander "Jack" Cole, 43, Kamloops, was remanded until tomorrow in City Police Court today on a charge under the Defence of Canada Regulations with making statements likely to be prejudicial to the efficient prosecution of the war.

Cole appeared before Magistrate Henry C. Hall. He is defended by H. W. Davey.

Quartermaster-Sergeant Harry Dewese of the 3rd Battalion, 16th Canadian Scottish, gave evidence of statements made by Cole to him in the lobby of St. James Hotel on the night of September 16. The accused was drunk, he said.

Besides making statements, Cole put his foot on the sergeant's chest, according to evidence.

Benjamin Pruss, manager of the hotel, said Cole shook his fist at him while he was at the hotel counter checking in a guest, and made threatening remarks.

It was following this incident that Cole made statements to Sergeant Dewese.

Hotel guests, John Dority and Henry Fisher, also gave evidence.

H. J. O. Bligh, charged with driving in a manner dangerous to the public as the result of the fatal accident on Cadboro Bay Road last August 30 which caused the death of the child, Ingrid L. Peterson, was sentenced to 30 days following conviction by Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court yesterday.

Judge Shandley held the accused should have known the brakes on the truck he was driving were not in the best condition.

Lumber Industry Does 'Impossible' For War Needs

"The war work—outside of its seriousness—has been a really fortunate experience to the Canadian timber industry in that we have repeatedly accomplished the impossible," said J. G. Robson, president of B.C. Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, when he outlined for the 31st Pacific Logging Congress here today the enormous transition that has taken part in the industry to fill the needs of conflict.

Referring to the fact the government had power to take over and operate the mills and logging camps if they did not fill requirements, he declared:

"We don't need to be pushed around. We don't need to be bulldozed. We know its our war just as everyone else's. We know what it would mean if we didn't win and thank goodness the whole industry knows it."

First problem the industry faced when the war broke out was the drastic rearrangement of its markets. Before the war 90 per cent of the lumber was sold in Canada, 10 per cent to non-Empire foreign markets and 60 per cent to the Empire. Last year the United Kingdom alone took 965,000 board feet out of 2,000,000,000 exported.

Freight rates skyrocketed immediately, quintupling in some cases and B.C. lumbermen had worked on delivering their lumber to the buyers. The British government solved this as far as its own orders were concerned by providing the ships itself.

U.K. TAKES EVERYTHING

Defeat of the Baltic countries then made it apparent the United Kingdom needed every foot of lumber that could be produced here, he said. Ships were delayed due to war conditions and the rail movement was commenced. But uncertainties of ship arrivals at eastern ports sometimes meant that a full cargo must be loaded in three or four days, and this had actually been accomplished.

Then came demands for different types of lumber, strange to British Columbia mills, for cutting new sizes, for all the Douglas fir that could be obtained in detriment to sales of other species.

"We have had to do a lot of things for the United Kingdom with our lumber in British Columbia that we never thought could be done," he said.

The industry here has tried to forget what we wanted to do ourselves and to supply the United Kingdom with what it wants in the form it requires."

He described how the timber control had been set up under H. R. MacMillan with advisory committees in each province. None of the committeemen were paid, but were proud to have a hand in a real war job, he said.

As an illustration of the job the lumber industry had ahead of it in supplying the war demand he cited the following illustrations:

The housing of 75,000 men in the Commonwealth air training plan.

The building of 325 airplane hangars.

Housing of 175,000 men for militia training.

Building of some $183,000,000 worth of factory buildings for war material production.

Construction of warehouses for munitions and war supplies.

Lumber for new power developments, new mines, new docks and new transportation arrangements.

One of the biggest problems for those whose job it was to keep the lumber moving was to fill sudden orders, almost on 24 hours' notice for specified grades, he said.

"It happens almost daily. Many times we've had to 'skin the cat backward' to keep the lumber moving, but that is where we've found the impossible can be accomplished."

CHILDREN GIVE TO AID BRITAIN

Donations ranging from one cent to $10 dropped from envelopes sent in by Greater Victoria school children to help children of Great Britain in the distress of war, as officials of the city comptroller's office counted returns today.

No total could be announced, since several of the envelopes have yet to be filed and the count will not be completed until tomorrow.

The contributions will be kept in a separate fund and sent specifically from the young people of Victoria to help those of similar ages in Great Britain.

While the collection was being counted, officials of the City Hall proceeded with plans for the bridge and mah jong party to be held at Government House on October 16 to raise further funds to assist victims of bombings in the Old Country.

No Details Yet on Weser's Display

No decision has yet been reached as to the exhibiting of the captured German freighter Weser in aid of funds for the Canadian Red Cross. It is quite likely that after the ship has arrived here and naval authorities have completed the formalities connected with a seized vessel, that arrangements will be made for opening the Weser to the public. Announcements of these arrangements cannot be expected for some days.

Gordon Head Second

Major Aeneas McB. Bell-Irving of Vancouver has been appointed second in command of the draft camp at Gordon Head, under Col. T. B. Monk of Victoria.

With the first anti-aircraft regiment when war began, Major Bell-Irving was later with the 5th Coast Brigade on Vancouver Island and was chief recruiting officer for a short time. He is a member of the well-known Bell-Irving family of British Columbia, which has given sons to the navy, the army and the air force.

Col. Monk recently returned from an airplane trip east, where he conferred at Connaught Ranges, near Ottawa, with other draft camp commandants and leading Canadian military authorities.

Logger's Death Was Accidental

Provincial police here today reported the death of John Baptist Schindele, a logger employed at the Sunrise Logging Company operations at Knight's Inlet, yesterday afternoon at 1:15.

The body was taken to Alert Bay, where a coroner's jury

DIRECTOR—After 25 years on the staff of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, William Burton has been appointed director in place of W. A. Thorn, who is leaving for Toronto. Mr. Burton was born in London, England, and came to Canada in 1911. He went overseas with the 7th Battalion first contingent and was wounded in May, 1915. On his return to Canada he was appointed to the observatory staff, where he has remained since.

Uphold Decision On Bank Robber

The Court of Appeal today sustained the conviction of Jack McNeil for the armed robbery of the Victoria West branch of the Royal Bank of Canada and reserved judgment on the prisoner's appeal from sentence of 10 years imposed upon him at the close of his Victoria Assize Court trial last March.

Hearing of another appeal by McNeil from conviction and sentence of 11 years by Judge Lennox, Vancouver, on charge of assault with intent to rob the Vancouver Safeway Stores, was adjourned until next Tuesday to afford counsel time to produce certain evidence on which McNeil based his argument of doubtful identification. The Vancouver sentence runs concurrently with that of McNeil's given in Victoria.

The prisoner, appearing in person, had sought to establish false identification and prejudice from the judge's charge in the Victoria trial.

Appealing sentence he said he did not entirely blame the trial judge for the stiffness of the term, noting he had angered the judge with his address. He asked for leniency as a first-time loser in Canada.

D. J. McAlpine cited the maximum penalty under the code as life imprisonment with whipping and referred to McNeil's previous record, mentioned by the prisoner himself.

Pleading his appeal from the Vancouver conviction, McNeil stated an identification witness had shown doubt in fixing him as the man engaged in the store hold-up. The court adjourned the hearing to check his statements with a transcript.

Late yesterday the court reduced the three years' hard labor sentence imposed on George Stephenson at Ashcroft in June for theft of cheques to two years' less a day, to run from the date of conviction. A. Branca appeared for the appellant and Carew Martin for the Crown.

This morning the appeal of A. Davis from conviction and a $100 fine in Vancouver on a charge of retaining stolen property was opened by Mr. Branca. The accused allegedly had in his possession a quantity of copper cable reputedly stolen from the B.C. Electric Railway Company.

Mr. Branca based his appeal on the main grounds—that the evidence did not show the wire was stolen, that no evidence was submitted to prove the copper in the possession of the accused had formerly been owned by the B.C. Electric, and that the accused was not given the benefit of reasonable doubt.

Night Courses Open Tomorrow

Victoria's Night School, sponsored by the City School Board with the assistance of the Provincial Department of Education, will open its special courses tomorrow night with a wide range of subjects offered to those enrolled.

Classes will cover commercial, English, fine arts, languages, journalism, home economics, industrial arts and technical and vocational training in various branches.

Opening ceremonies will be spread over three days, with groups which regularly assemble on Friday and Monday evenings plunging into their work on those nights.

Navy Minister Here Next Week

Hon. Angus Macdonald, Minister of Naval Services, announced in Ottawa today he would visit the Pacific coast next week to visit naval establishments and headquarters of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve.

It will be the first visit of the Navy Minister—former Premier of Nova Scotia—to the Pacific coast headquarters of the Canadian navy at Esquimalt.

Since taking his portfolio, Mr. Macdonald has been on the Pacific coast. He flew to Vancouver last month to speak at a luncheon boosting the second war loan, and then flew east again without coming to Victoria.

Mr. Macdonald will complete the Pacific coast visits of the heads of Department of National Defence. Hon. J. L. Ralston, the chief minister, was here last month and inspected military establishments. Hon. C. G. Power, Minister for Air Services, was here last week and flew to air force bases along the British Columbia coast.

brought in a verdict of accidental death at an inquest this morning. No reports of the cause of death were given. Schindele was an un-naturalized German. It was believed he had a wife in Germany.

Mercolized Wax Cream

Helps Your Skin

Renew Itself

A beautifier that is a real find for the beauty minded woman is Mercolized Wax Cream. It helps the skin renew itself by removing the dis-colored outer layer of skin and revealing the new beauty of the under-skin. Mercolized Wax Cream is a real bargain in a single cream. It will give your skin the benefits of cleansing, softening, smoothening and beautifying in every application. Bring out the hidden beauty of your skin with Mercolized Wax Cream. Use

this tingling antiseptic astringent

daily to give your skin a fresh, cleanly appearance. Dissolve Skatolite in one-half pint witch hazel and apply to your face and neck.

What U.S. Writers Say

To Rush Equipment
For Army Canada's Task

NEW YORK (CP) — Lowell

Lim us, milita, expert of the

New York Daily News, one of the group of some 30 United States newspapermen who recently toured eastern Canada, today wrote that Canadian authorities

"realize that the land of the maple leaf has a lot more men than guns at present."

"Like us, a desperate Canada is playing for time," he wrote in the second of a series of articles outlining what he saw in the Dominion.

Most Canadian men consider the 30-day training system of the nonpermanent active militia

"unsatisfactory—a makeshift to tide them over until adequate equipment becomes available,"

Limpus said. When sufficient equipment is available, Canada probably will adopt compulsory one-year-selective service training similar to that set up in the United States, he added.

Dealing at length with the treatment being given to prisoners in Canada's internment camps,

Limpus said the prisoners "looked fat and contented, well dressed and well fed." The party visited Kingston, Ont., where some 600 prisoners are held in Fort Henry, and was allowed to question the men freely.

A week's tour of eastern Canada "with extraordinary opportunities for inspection of defence items not on general display" leaves the observer impressed alike with "the great advances which must yet be made," writes

Major Mark S. Watson in the Baltimore Sun.

"What commands the observers' respect is the celerity with which the Dominion had adapted its September, 1939, program, to the radically altered facts of September, 1940," he says.

Under the old imperial defence program, Britain was shipping to Canada items of war supply to equip and train Canadian forces.

Events of May, June and July changed that and "not only did

England find it impossible to continue the promised shipments to Canada, but she found it necessary to get her own supplies from the United States—the only market to which Canada herself could turn."

Meanwhile, the United States'

own defence program had started.

"We in the United States have been appalled this summer by our own difficulties in military procurement, despite the immense resources of a country of 130,000,

000 people. Canada has 14,000,000 people and is very much less industrialized. What she has done in the face of the handicaps which have just been suggested stirs, in many cases, the warmest admiration."

Major Watson then reviews

Canada's army, air force and naval progress, remarking that the United States, in a ratio based on Canada's military position at this time, "would have over 1,500,

000 men preparing for overseas duty."

UNITED STATES NEEDS

Certain types of artillery, chiefly anti-tank and anti-aircraft,

"which, as we all know too well,

the United States army also needs acutely," are mentioned as among Canada's needs.

"Variation of standards in equipment is inevitably a problem for a dominion which has been getting part of its supplies from Britain and now must get from the United States almost everything which it cannot produce itself."

Major Watson found that "one cannot see all these camps, filled

Stone Age People Had Two Fire-making Methods

When I was in the fifth grade, this question came up in the classroom, "Which is more important, fire or water?" At that time it seemed to me that water was more important. A person might live without cooking food, and he could go to a hot climate to keep warm. Without water, on the other hand, he would die; so would all plants and all animals of sea, land and air.

Today I think of a very big point which has something to do with the question. The sun gives us heat because it is burning in one way or another. Scientists are not sure just what kind of burning goes on, but it is "fire of some sort."

Without the sun, there could be no plant or animal life on earth.

Stone Age man twirling stick to make fire.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Washington crossed the Delaware, Burbank crossed plants, Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic, and Lord Byron crossed the Bosphorus, or Hellespont.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX--For three years I have gone steady with a young man, but a short while ago we quarreled and definitely parted. I had been going with this boy so long that all the other boys had ditched me, and now I find myself sitting at home with no one to take me out, and I want to get back into circulation. But how? I am working for a large firm, but all the men are married. So are the young men I meet at church. What would you advise me to do?

ANSWER: You are just another illustration of the folly of "keeping company" with any young man and letting him monopolize you until the wedding day is set. Naturally, if you give one lad all of your time and attention, it drives the others away, because they think you are bespoken.

A thousand things may happen to break up such a relationship. You may get tired of the boy, or he may get tired of you. He may move to a distant city, and there you are left flat, with nobody to take you out or give you a good time. Socially you are worse off than a widow, because you haven't even any insurance money to make you interesting to suitors.

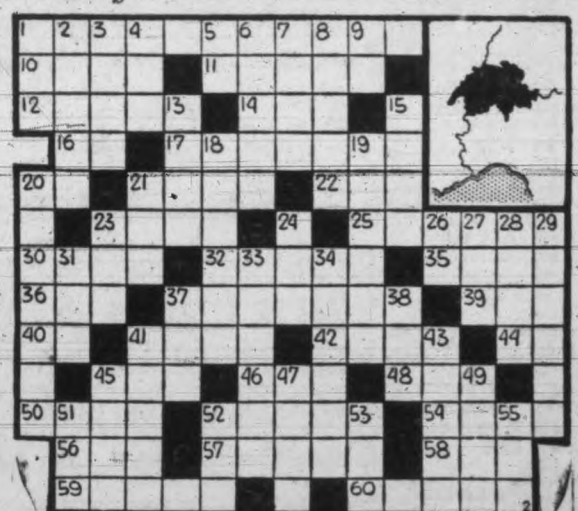

The best thing for you to do and, the least ostentatious way in which you can call attention to the fact that you are again in the running is to give a lot of little parties. Invite a few boys and girls in for bridge or other games or any kind of a little supper. Don't have too many guests. Just a few, so you can impress each boy with the fact of what a nice, pretty Jane you are and what good company.

"Feed the brute" is as good a rule for acquiring a boy friend as it is for holding a husband. You don't need to have elaborate spreads. Just anything that is good and tasty and plentiful.

DEAR MISS DIX--My wife and I have a lot of trouble over her smoking. I want her to give it up and she promises she will, but she smokes just the same. What shall we do about it?

ANSWER: If you are so bitterly opposed to it as all that, I think she should give it up. It would be too bad to let a cigarette wreck a marriage that might be happy.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, October 3

Aspects of many conflicting influences are active today, and should be employed wisely.

Women are under a stimulating planetary direction, but they should not follow sudden impulses. Their judgment may not be trustworthy, since the heart may rule the mind unwisely. Girls may expect happiness in love affairs. Young men may be reckless suitors, but they will be well guided under this configuration. This is a day to accept whatever good luck comes and to put off critical analysis.

Training of young men and women will be fortunate for industry. With unemployment greatly reduced there will be prosperity for merchants of all classes. Ambitious projects which will provide for refugees are prognosticated. The design and manufacture of clothing will prove most profitable. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a successful year. It is a time to make much of opportunities great and small. Children born on this day probably will be strongly individual. Shrewd and subtle, they may be difficult to understand, but they should possess the elements of fine attainment.
